Rheumatism

Though painful and wearing almost beyond endurance, is not an incurable disease if treated in time. Perhaps no other disease has so baffled the efforts of science and medicine as this, but at last a remedy has been discovered in Tongaline which CURES RHEUMATISM, and is heartily endorsed by many of the Leading Physicians.

WHAT THEY SAY:

"TONGALINE is doing all that is claimed it will do."
G. C. SEIFERT, M. D., Cantrall, Ill.

"Had a case of Inflammatory Rheumatism of nearly all the large joints. Gave TONGALINE, and to-day my patient is out and doing well."
W. W. BAXTER, M. D., Hersman, Ill.

"In my opinion TONGALINE supercedes all other so-called rheumatic remedies."
S. C. WORSHAM, M. D., Marengo, Ill.

"Have given TONGALINE a fair trial, and think it the best remedy I have ever found for Rheumatism."
B. F. DAVIS, Sturgeon, Mo.

THE STRIKE.

Full Details of the Situation This Afternoon.

The Business Men Hold a Stormy Session This Morning,

And Emphatically Call on the Mayor to Protect Life and Property.

Further Testimony in the Havey Inquest To-Day.

Mayor Francis on the Situation—All the Street Car Lines Running To-Day—No Trouble Anticipated—Cars to Run To-Night—The Strikers at Turner Hall—Notes.

The streets of the city were unusually quiet yesterday. Good citizens, anticipating trouble, remained in-doors as much as possible, and the attendance at divine service was smaller than usual. Those who ventured upon the streets after 9 o'clock were surprised to find the street cars running on most of the lines. Even the Jefferson Avenue Line, which has not had more than five cars out since Wednesday last, put on a regular service and had as many as ten cars running under guard at one time. The Broadway Line started nine cars out in a string early in the morning, each car manned by a regular crew and guarded by two policemen, while three policemen in a one-horse wagon brought up the rear of the procession. The cars only ran until 3 o'clock. The Union Depot and Cass avenue lines had a small number of cars on, while the Mound City and Union Lines ran about half the regular force. Olive street, Market street and South St. Louis cars were, as usual, running on time. The Benton-Bellefontaine Line had only a few cars out, while the People's Line ran no more than eight at one time. All of these cars were under guard, one, two or three policemen being stationed on every car. The Green Line on Fourth street, and the Blue Line on Washington avenue had no cars out all day. It was not entirely easy to find drivers for the cars. P. C. Maffit of the Missouri Railroad reported yesterday morning that his men had been visited at their boarding houses Saturday night and threatened so that one-half of them refused to take out their cars in the morning. It was easier, however, to fill vacancies on Olive street or Market than on any other line.

DISTURBANCES

were unexpectedly few yesterday. The Jefferson avenue cars were attacked a couple of times, once near Cass avenue, where John O'Neill was arrested for holding the heads of the horses while the traces were being cut, and once at Chouteau avenue, where a panic was created by torpedoes placed upon the track, and Miss Ella Quinn had her arm broken by jumping from the car. Torpedoes were also placed on the Olive street tracks, but no damage was done. The Broadway line experienced more trouble than any other. At Broadway and Lynch streets, early in the day, the track was blockaded, but the police cleared away the obstructions and arrested Wm. J. Good and Herman Hachel for placing them in position. In the northern part of the city the Broadway cars were stoned and the driver egged, while at Ferry street an attempt was made to tear up the tracks. The police arrested Tom Duneen, Frank Lewis, George Coffenbacker, Henry Woeninghaus and Henry Althoff. The latter, who claims to be a Knight of Labor, was arrested with some difficulty at his home on Broadway, near Dock street. One Benton-Bellefontaine car was stoned about 5:30 p. m., but no one was injured. Several of these cars were thrown from the track by rocks. On the other lines there were very few demonstrations and these were not of a serious nature. At 8 o'clock every car in the city had been turned in, except on Olive street, Franklin avenue and Sixth street, where the regular runs were made.

THE MILITIA

still guard the Armory, Company L being on duty yesterday and Company A last night. Quite a number of the soldier boys were collected at the Armory Saturday night, but very few remained after 8 o'clock.

The Business Men's Meeting.

The Citizens' Committee did not conclude its session until a late hour Saturday evening—too late for the general meeting it had been intended to hold. That meeting was, therefore, called for this morning and the committee went into the preparation of an elaborate report. This report, after setting forth in brief, the testimony of the different parties who had appeared before the committee, concluded as follows:

"From the above facts, the committee find there is no present solution of the existing difficulty; that the strike will continue unless both parties voluntarily make concessions to one another. Your committee further find that it is the duty of the constituted authorities to enforce public peace and security of life and property until the existing strike has terminated; and your committee in this connection find the Knights of Labor are pledged to assist in the protection of life and property and in maintaining peace. Your committee further find that, pending any treaty between the railroad companies and their employes for mutual concessions, the disinterested citizens who are members of the meeting appointing this committee, are competent to act for both parties in receiving and conveying any concessions that may be made by either party to the controversy."

TO-DAY'S MEETING.

The citizens assembled at the Mercantile Club at 10 o'clock this morning. Among those present were S. M. Kennard, Geo. T. Crane, D. D. Walker, John R. Holmes, L. B. Ripley, R. J. Compton, J. R. Lionberger, John C. Wilkinson, R. S. Brookings, H. C. West, W. A. Hargadine, John D. Perry, Wm. McMillan, Mr. Clark, Jos. Bascome, E. J. Glasgow, jr., John Hogan, A. F. Shapleigh, Wm. Flavens, J. C. Moore, E. S. Lewis, W. J. Gilbert, Louis Bierman, T. K. Skinker and W. C. Day. The meeting was called to order by N. O. Nelson, who, with Jos. Specht and S. C. Bunn, were the only members of the committee present. Jos. Franklin and W. B. Thompson appeared afterward. The concluding paragraph of the committee's report was read by Secretary Bunn. Mr. Perry arose and said that he was opposed to a merchants' meeting; he was opposed to a meeting that would require the merchants of St. Louis to recognize the Knights of Labor. He thought a report from the merchants of the city should have been more devoted to discussing the violations of the law. He thought the Knights of Labor an irresponsible body of men from whom emanated all this trouble. As he had opposed the recognition of the Knights of Labor he still opposes it. He thought the city had the power to enforce the laws. Last week it was pretty hard to drive strangers from the streets, but he thought the city could control any mob that might attempt violence now. He hoped some one would offer a substitute for this report.

On request of Mr. Hargadine the report was read again.

Mr. Holmes moved that that part be stricken out which referred to the Knights of Labor. Mr. Crane amended by asking that everything be stricken out except what referred to enforcing the laws. Mr. McMillan objected to the whole report, especially that part which said there was no solution to the difficulty.

Mr. Ripley moved to lay the motion on the table and to dismiss the committee, that another report may be draughted representing the sentiments of the sensible business men of St. Louis. He thought the report entirely misrepresented the business men's sentiments. The motion to lay on the table was carried, Mr. Kennard voting "No."

Mr. Bunn offered a report presented by him Saturday, but refused by the committee.

THE NEW REPORT.

It was as follows: "Whereas, it appears that the principal difference between the street railroad managers and their employes seems to be that the managers base their estimates on the actual number of hours worked excepting those allowed for meals, while the employes seem to base their estimates on the time of commencing work in the morning until the time of quitting at night, allowing no credit for the time they lay off during the day, and.

"Whereas, it seems that the street railroad companies are unwilling to treat with any organization other than their own employes.

"Therefore; be it resolved by the business men of St. Louis in convention assembled that the street car employes are advised to treat directly with their employers, and that the municipal authorities are hereby requested to protect life and property and protect the street railroad Companies in running their cars according to law and their respective charters."

Mr. Ripley thought the motion hardly strong enough. The business men were not called upon to arbitrate. He would do all he could to elevate the honest working man, but these men were defying the law and the merchants could not afford to go on record as supporting them. The thing to do was to take these men by the throat and make them feel the majesty of the law. There was no reason why a mob should control this city for one hour. If any merchant on the floor was in the Mayor's place he would have put down this trouble. [Loud and continued applause.] Their wives and children were in danger of losing their lives as they traveled up and down on the street cars. His family, he said, had been in danger during the rioting of last week. He thought that they should demand of the authorities the enforcement of the law. [Loud cheers.] He moved that a committee of three be appointed with Mr Bunn as chairman to submit to the meeting resolutions expressive of their sense of what the situation required. [Applause.]

Mr. Nelson, before putting the motion, explained that the newspaper reports of his attitude in the matter were incorrect. He did believe in arbitration, however.

MR. FRANKLIN,

chairman of the sub-committee, which met on Saturday, came forward. He did not understand the situation. They had appointed his committee Friday to hear the three parties. What more did they want them to do? He would be blessed if he could see what they were after. The committee had not thought it their duty to criticize. It was their duty to come and tell what they had found. He did not see anything wrong in the conclusion of the committee.

Mr. Lionberger said that all the citizens wanted was the enforcement of the law.

Mr. Kennard rose to explain his vote on the motion to table. He had voted "No," not because he was opposed to the motion, but because he thought out of courtesy to the committee it should have been allowed to explain its report.

Mr. Lionberger said he was not disposed to treat the committee with any discourtesy. No doubt they had arrived at conclusions satisfactory to themselves, but this was not a question of rights of employer and employed—it was a question as to the enforcement of the law. The question was whether the street car men should be allowed quietly to pursue their business.

Mr. McMillan said he had the greatest respect for the members of the committee, but he thought they had made a grand mistake originally in the appointment of that committee. He had expressed his views on that subject at Friday's meeting.

The Chairman cut off further debate by putting the question as to the appointment of the committee of three, which was carried. He then named Mr. Bunn, Mr. Ripley and Mr. McMillan to constitute that committee, and these three gentlemen retired for consultation. In their absence Mr. Bierman moved that Mr. Franklin be allowed make an explanatian on behalf of his committee.

rose, as he said, at the risk of being considered discourteous, to say that he thought it was no time to discuss the propriety of upholding violence. An explanation would simply reiterate what the committee had already said in its report.

Mr. Franklin, who had come forward in response to Mr. Bierman's suggestion, retired in disgust, saying that if the meeting did not want to listen to him he did not want to talk.

Mr. Specht, another member of the committee, rose to explain his position. He thought that the appointment of the new committee was no slight put upon him. He thought his committee had been appointed simply to collect facts.

Mr. Gilbert moved that the gentlemen be allowed to explain. To table a report was a slap in the face of the committee presenting it. Mr. Lionberger amended so as to provide that the discussion should be wholly upon the question of the preservation of law and order.

Mr. Thompson of the committee jumped up excitedly, and said he wanted it to go on record that the committee was not allowed to defend itself. The motion of Mr. Gilbert as amended prevailed.

Mr. Franklin arose to make his explanation. He said he thought the committee had attended to the law and order question in the best possible way. The citizens' meeting had defined the duties of the committee, whom it should interview and when. Instead of being in session for three hours the committee had sat for ten hours hearing the different parties. The committee reported that there was no solution to the difficulty at present. He did not think any one there could solve it. The committee had fully covered the law and order question when it said that the constituted authorities should maintain peace and order.

Mr. Lionberger said he felt that he had a right as a citizen to speak on this subject. The committee, he thought, had rather assumed that they were acting as arbitrators. The street car men had no grievances to arbitrate. They had appeared before the committee simply because they had not desired to appear discourteous to them before the public. They did not want people to come in and control their business. The committee was assuming something it had not been asked to do. He thought the community did not awake to the true importance of the present issue. It was a question as to whether he should manage his own business or not, and it was a question as to the maintainance of the laws.

Mr. Thompson, of the Committee, said that their duties had been defined by the resolution appointing them, and that they had adhered strictly to those duties. As to the Knights of Labor the meeting had instructed the Committee to hear them with the rest.

During Mr. Thompson's remarks the committee returned and at 11 o'clock presented a resolution which was worded like that of Mr. Bunn with the exception of the following clause—"to treat directly with their employers or else seek work elsewhere, and that we hereby demand of the municipal authorities that they protect," etc.; and with the addition of the following: "The committe also recommend that a committee of merchants be appointed to wait on his Honor the Mayor and present the views of this committee."

Mr. Kennard said he thought the resolution contained too much. He objected to the preamble.

Mr. McMillan said the committee desired to correct the popular but erroneous impression that the street car men worked eighteen hours a day.

Mr. Holmes offered a substitute for the resolution which set forth briefly that whereas lawlessness and disorder prevailed, they recommend to the authorities to uphold the law.

Mr. McMillan, as a member of the committee, said he was willing to leave out the first "whereas."

Mr. Bunn said that the resolution was based on the finding of the committee which was in session Saturday, of which he had been a member. These strikers had stated that they were made to work 19 hours, whereas, on the Washington avenue bobtail line, the committee had found that their actual working time was 11 hours and 42 minutes per day. The committee must give the public the facts in the case. The Knights of Labor solicited people to join. When they had joined and paid their fee, they presented their grievance to the Knights, who affected to be arbitrators, and if the demands of the men were not acceded to ordered a strike. But after that strike was ordered they claimed that they were not responsible for the conduct of the men engaged in it. The Knights of Labor should be held responsible for the conduct of the men who went out under their orders. Another thing he had noticed was that the men who came here to represent the Knights of Labor in this matter were entirely outside the street car business and knew nothing of it. He had asked one of them what he was and he had said he was a carpenter; another was a printer. Again these men had said that they took a buggy and drove around for two days without being able to find a street car manager. After that he did not credit the statements of these men. He did not believe what they said. He knew he could find almost every street car manager in the city within an hour.

Mr. Skinker said that he had been in favor of the substitute, but now he favored the original report and he wished the committee had embodied all these facts in it. He thought they would have a material bearing and the public should know them. He knew that many of the public sympathized with the strikers and that sympathy was he thought misplaced. The strikers were revolutionists and the hoodlums were their natural allies (Applause.)

thought it was not the business of the meeting to go into those questions. Mr. Franklin warned the gentlemen present to be careful. To show how right the committee was he wanted to say that four of its members were present and that the facts as presented by Mr. Bunn were different from their apprehension of them. Their understanding was that the working time was longer than 11 hours and 42 minutes. Mr. Lionberger wanted to know if Mr. Franklin had any reason to doubt the reports of the railroad companies as to time. Mr. Franklin said he had not. Twelve and a half to thirteen hours was the correct average working time.

Mr. Bunn rose to correct Mr. Franklin. He had cited the Washington avenue bob-tail line as an instance. The actual time of the different companies was 12¼ to 18 hours, and the time asked was 12 hours. He did not think the difference was material.

Mr. Kennard called up this motion to strike out the preamble to the original resolution, and offered instead a substitute resolution, in which it was set forth that it was the opinion of the meeting that as the merchants were not called on to arbitrate between the street car companies and their employes, they had nothing to do with that question, but as citizens and merchans they insisted on the laws being supported and pledged themselves to stand by the authorities in the support of these laws.

Mr. Lionberger said he hoped Mr. Kennard's resolution would prevail.

A motion was made to strike out the preamble.

Mr. Kennard explained that his object in writing the preamble was to show that the merchants had no prejudice in favor of or against any class, and that they might be in an attitude to act as a committee of arbitration, if requested to do so.

The motion to strike out was voted down, and afterward the resolution in its original shape was carried.

Louis Bierman moved that a committee of thirteen be appointed to wait upon the Mayor to present these resolutions. A large number of names were suggested.

Messrs. Lionberger and Hargadine who had been suggested, begged to be excused as they were interested parties.

THE COMMITTEE.

Being the father-in-law of Mayor Francis, Mr. John D. Perry was excused from the committee, which was finally announced as follows: Sam Kennard, chairman; John R. Holmes, W. B. Thompson, L. B. Ripley, Wm. McMillan, S. C. Bunn, W. C. Day, J. C. Wilkison, A. F. Shapleigh, R. S. Brookings, Louis Bierman, C. F. Gauss and W. C. Walker.

Mr. Franklin presented the stenographer's bill of $20, which was, on motion of Mr. Lionberger, paid by $1 contributions from all present.

The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, and the Committee proceeded to the Mayor's office.

The Thirteen Meet the Mayor.

When the committee of thirteen appointed at the Mercantile Club meeting reached the Mayor's office His Honor was not there, and Commodore Smith telephoned for him to the Four Courts, where he was meeting with the Police Board. In fifteen minutes Mr. Francis put in an appearance and was introduced all around to the committee by Mr. Kennard.

His Honor said he was glad to meet the gentlemen of the committee, and thought it would have been as well for the committee to call at the Four Courts.

Mr. Kennard said they preferred to see the Mayor in his own office and explained the object of the visit, after which the resolutions adopted in the morning at the Club were read.

Mayor Francis said: "Gentlemen, I am glad to see you, and am always glad to have your counsel, particularly in times like this. I must tell you that there is a great mistake in regard to what we have done about this trouble. We have done everything in our power, and have done well for the resources at our command. The street cars have run and there have not been cars stopped at our suggestion. We have told the street car managers to run their cars, and we would give them all the protection we had. This we have done, and when cars were stopped at night it was done at somebody's suggestion besides our own. Every street car company that called upon us for protection got all we had, and they shall continue to get it. If we cannot keep the peace with the force at our command we shall call upon you citizens, and expect that you will help us. The Missouri Republican this morning places the authorities in a false and unjust light." Mr. Francis here went into a long discussion of the circumstances attending the beginning of the strike, with crowded streets full of strangers who would be frightened away by an official proclamation which would virtually declare the city in a state of siege and would tend to keep other visitors who might come during the week from visiting the city. He said the policeman was as human as any other being and needed rest; beyond this, there was ample protection at all times, and it was hoped to fill out the shortcomings of the department in this respect by calling in citizens to do police duty in emergencies.

"In regard to the killing of a rioter by a police officer, last Friday afternoon" said the Mayor, "some of the papers have tried to make it appear that the officer was guilty of

A WANTON MURDER.

I have examined personally into this matter, and think from what I could learn the officer was merely performing what he considered was his duty. To comment upon the authorities in regard to calling out the militia is entirely uncalled for. There is no organized mob in this city; the trouble has taken the character of a guerilla warfare; a crowd gathers at a point, overturns a car and runs away; the militia could do no more to prevent this thing than can the police. Wherever any gathering has taken place the police have dispersed it, and there never was a crowd in the city at any time last week that the police did not successfully disperse. In regard to your resolution, gentlemen, I desire to express no opinion; we are doing what we think best, and if you gentlemen desire to assist us you can do so by enrolling yourselves as special policemen. We have made a call for 500 men and only seventy-five men have so far responded. The street-car drivers and Knights of Labor have offered their services as special police, but we do not want them, and will not enroll them or anybody connected in any way with the street-car lines or interested in the strike. We feel that we are equal to cope with the trouble in its present proportions, and in asking citizens to come forward we desire only to prepare for an emergency. The cars are now running all night; there has not been any great interference since we called on citizens, and in conversation with Messrs. Maffitt, Scullin and Green this morning I ascertained that they were were perfectly satisfied with the protection we are giving them and will run cars on their lines—the Union Depot, Mound City, Forest Park and the Green Line on Fourth street—to-night. They did not stop the night run at my request, but because I suppose the drivers and conductors were afraid to go out with their cars and they are not running at our request, they are merely satisfied that there will be no more trouble and that they have no danger to fear in running at night. In regard to the arrests that have been made we find that we can try all those men who overturned cars for felony, which may result in sending some or all of them to the Penitentiary for twenty years, that being the limit of punishment provided by law.

said on behalf of the committee that there was no desire to reflect on the authorities. Not one merchant has or had anything to say in condemnation of what had been done, and their resolutions were intended merely to let the authorities and the Mayor know that the merchants backed him in what he had done, and was doing and stood ready to cooperate with him and other authorities.

Mr. Francis again called on the committee to enroll as special policemen.

Mr. Louis Bierman stood up and said he was willing to be enrolled and he thought every member of the committee would be willing to enroll him provided he was not assigned to duty.

Mayor Francis said all would be assigned as occasion required, and then referred once will more to the communication received by the Board from one Simon Bass as attorney for the Knights of Labor, sending knights for special police duty and again explained that Knights of Labor were not wanted and need not apply. He explained, too, that the authorities could not act as arbitrators between the strikers and their employers; their duty was simply to preserve the peace, the street car men and their employes would have to settle their differences themselves.

"We will continue," said the Mayor, "to protect life and property with the police. The militia can do no good and shall not be called upon."

After several unimportant questions had been asked, the committee arose to depart, and one of the thirteen suggested that the Mayor had better swear them in before they left.

"Gentlemen," said the Mayor, "if you will go over to the Four Courts we shall be glad to make special policemen of you all."

The thirteen smiled, shook hands and went away.

The Havey Inquest.

The inquest on the body of John J. Havey, the young man who was shot by Officer Pat Hannon last Friday afternoon, was opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock by Coroner Nidelet. The remains, which were lying in a box in the Morgue, were viewed by the jury and witnesses and were identified by some of the latter. Officer Hannon was among the first arrivals and looked cool and collected as if confident of vindication. A recess of one hour for dinner was taken during the investigation. The jurors were Edward Ryan, L. P. Crane, Philip Daab, John Tenney, William Jones and J. O. Coddling. The first witness called was J. H. Currell, whose testimony was against the officer and made it appear that Griffith, and not Hannon, did the shooting.

E. W. Havey, brother of the dead man, testified that he was a driver on the Lindell Railway. He and his brother took a walk with several companions. They found a crowd at Eleventh and Hickory streets, and saw the officers striking the men with their canes. His brother was hustled by Officer Griffith. He did not see the shooting, but heard two shots. He did not think any resistance was offered to the policemen.

Mrs. M. Schwank, whose husband keeps a saloon on Eleventh and Hickory, did not see the shooting, but saw the crowd drag the officers off the car, and also saw one man holding one of the officers while others struck him with their fists.

Dr. De Vetney of 1027 Eleventh street, testified that the officers called to the mob to stand off and used their canes. The stick of one officer was taken away. He said he saw a man holding Griffith down, and saw Hannon shoot him. Havey was not striking, but was only holding Griffith. He recognized Hannon as the man who did the shooting.

Edward Hertman, of 2211 Morgan street, said he saw the policemen beating the crowd, and then saw one man break and run, carrying a club. Officer Griffith was after him and the deceased after the officer, whom he held down for several minutes, until Hannon came up and shot twice. He heard Havey say to Griffith, "Don't shoot." Griffith had his revolver out also. No attempt, he said, was made to overthrow the car. Three shots altogether were fired the officers.

John S. Luthly of 1621 S. Fifteenth street was on the car and saw Hannon struck by a rock, after which he drew his revolver. He saw Griffith held down by a man.

Theodore Schrader of 1909 Lami street said that Havey was pursued by Griffith, and that both men fell. Griffith had the best of the young fellow, and was holding him down when Hannon came up and shot. He was sure that Havey was running away, and was kneeling when Hannon shot him. Hannon was not being pursued, and he did not see anybody strike an officer, nor did he hear the officer warn the crowd back.

Edward Heitzman and Louis A. J. Lippelt gave unimportant testimony, and then Phillip Rodan of 2707 Bernard street. He heard several tell the officers not to shoot. Griffith was assaulting the crowd and driving them back. He did not see anybody touch the car, nor did he see the shooting.

W. F. Lucking, a horse-shoer, said he saw two men on the ground, and then another man walked up and shot one of the men.

J. H. Currell, of 918 N. Twelfth street, said he saw an officer struck with a rock and then heard several call out "Don't shoot." After the officer shot the deceased he turned with an oath and threatened to shoot all in the crowd. He said he remonstrated with the officer for shooting Havey and was told with an oath to mind his own business or he would get run in. Havey had not touched anything about the car or horses. As he ran away he fell, and then the officer shot him. He was sure that the man who fired the fatal shot was Griffith and not Hannon, as he was only thirty feet from the man when he was shot. He noticed particularly that the officer with red hair (Griffith) fired the shots that killed.

Edward Gotsen, the conductor, said he saw a man on top of an officer, pounding him, and Hannon shot the deceased.

THE INQUEST TO-DAY.

The inquest was resumed by Coroner Nidelet at 11 o'clock this morning. The first witness examined was Mrs. John H. Topliff, who resides at 1121 Hickory street. She said that she saw the attack upon the car. Several of the men in the mob jumped on the platform of the car and tried to catch the police who were stationed there. The police beat the men, and one of the officers jumped from the car and ran. As he did so a crowd jumped on him and began beating him. He was thrown down and then a shot was fired. Almost at the same instant she saw another policeman and heard another shot. One man jumped upon the back of the officer and that was the man who got shot. Witness saw him fall back when the shot was fired. The officer was on both knees at the time.

Mrs. S. L. Hyde was then examined. She said hat she resided at 1020 Chouteau avenue and was at the time of the riot visiting the previous witness. She saw the crowd gathering on the corner of Eleventh and Hickory streets and making the attempt to stop the approaching car. One of the men jumped up and began to beat an officer about the head. The officer jumped from the car and the crowd followed him. There then followed a flash and a report. When the officer leaped from the car, he did not attack the crowd, but seemed to confine himself to the man who had assaulted him. They grappled, and both were partially down. She believed that the policeman was underneath. Both men were on their knees at the time the second shot was fired. The man who was shot seemed to be the same who had assaulted the officer. She considered that the officer was in danger of his life at the hands of the rioters.

H. H. Bodemann said that he saw the riot at the corner of Eleventh and Hickory. He was on the front seat of the car, in rear of the driver. The crowd attacked the car and the driver disappeared. The mules were detached from the car, and witness, who took the lines when the driver skipped, tried to keep them to the car, but the crowd cut the lines. One of the officers present struck one of the rioters, who then attacked him. A scene of excitement followed, during which a shot was fired. He saw two men lying in the street, an officer and a man on top of him. Another officer then ran up and shot the man who was on top of the officer. Witness could not recognize the officer who did the shooting, as he did not see his face. Both officers had their revolvers in hand. The officer was lying flat on the ground and the man was flat on top of him. The officers made no demonstrations against the strikers until they began unhitching the teams. Witness identified Officer Griffiths as one of the officers present during the riot. He did not see any missiles thrown. The officers were assailed by the whole crowd. Witness heard both shots fired. The shooting was done on the east side of the car. Witness considered that the officers when surrounded by the mob were in danger.

H. W. Bauer said that he was on the car when the riot occurred. When the strikers began to unhitch the mules the officers gave them fair warning to desist. They did not stop, however, when the officers struck them over the hands with their sticks. Witness saw one of the crowd throw a stone at one of the officers, hitting him on the shoulder. Witness did not see the officers assaulted as he stayed on the car during the trouble. He identified Hannon as the officer who got struck with a stone. He was getting his pistol out of his pocket at the time.

John Mulcowry, of 735 S. Sixth street, said he saw the riot. Officer Griffiths seemed to be clubbing everybody regardless of who they were. He went in pursuit of a man and a shot was fired. He then had a struggle with the man and had the advantage of him, having his arms around him. The other officer then rushed up and in a calm, deliberate and brutal manner fired at the man. The act, in his opinion, was uncalled for. Witness saw two or three men struggling with the officer, but did not see them strike him. Witness said that at the time of the shooting the man who got killed and the officer were trying to gain the advantage of each other. No other person was assaulting the officer at the time. He did not see anybody interfere with the mules, but did see a struggle between the officers and the crowd right at the dashboard. Witness identified Hannon as the officer who fired the fatal shot. He could not tell whether the car was stopped by the crowd. Witness was ten feet away from the spot where the shooting occurred.

Edward Fitzgerald, who lives in the rear of 3616 Broadway, a striking car driver, said he saw Officer Griffiths fall and the man who was shot fell on top of him. The man then struggled to get up and the officer held him by the arm. Saw two shots fired, the second one about two minutes after the first. At the time of the shooting the crowd was scattered in all directions. Witness did not know how the car was stopped. Did not see any of the crowd touch the mules. He had been at the strikers' hall just previous to his visiting the place where the riot occurred.

Michael Shaughnessy, a striking car driver, said he saw the shooting. He was at the time on the corner of Eleventh and Hickory. He stopped there seeing a crowd gather around the cars. He saw the man who was shot take hold of the police officer. They fell down together, the man on top of the policeman, when another officer approached and shot him. Witness saw the crowd attempt to unhitch the mules from the cars. The officer who fired the shot was not being assaulted at the time. He made some remark as he fired, but witness did not hear what he said. The car was stopped by the crowd. Witness did not see any stones thrown. The only violence he saw was that offered by the man who got killed. Witness was accompanied to the spot by a friend, whose name he did not wish to disclose. The Coroner pressed the witness, who then denied that he knew the name.

James Carney, a discharged street-car hostler, said that he was present at the riot until he got chased away, arriving on the scene just after the car was stopped. The policemen were clubbing the crowd, who did not retaliate. Seven or eight officers were standing around, all of whom had guns and clubs in their hands.

The inquest was then adjourned to 3 p. m.

The Situation To-day.

President Peper, of the Broadway Line, had eleven cars on the road to-day. The company are employing new hands as fast as they apply, and plenty of hands could be obtained to run all the cars if protection could be secured. The company's stables are well guarded at night, both by the police and private watchmen. A number of the old employes have called at the stables and expressed their willingness to work were it not for the threats that have been made. Representatives of the strikers have gone around to the families of some of the old employes and have requested the wives to use their utmost exertions to keep their husbands from working on the line.

Superintendent McCullough, of the Benton-Bellefontaine Line, encourages his men not only by precept but by example. He acted as driver for one trip on a car this morning without police protection. He says that he can obtain all the new men he wants, and would be willing to run without police escorts if Captain McDonald would allow it. Sergeant Pearce, with sixteen men, is guarding the Line, which is running eight cars. The police speak well of the treatment they are receiving, as Superintendent McCullough is providing well for their welfare.

The Mound City Line sent out eight cars this morning. The Superintendent was anxious to send out more cars but guards could not be obtained in the morning. They expected to increase the number of cars during the day and will run several cars on the Jefferson avenue line.

The Union Depot Line is running a large number of cars.

The Franklin Avenue, Olive Street and Market Street Lines have met with no opposition and are running regularly.

In fact, at noon all the lines were running, many of them under police protection and no trouble had been reported anywhere.

At the Four Courts.

The police are beginning to feel the advantage of the assistance given by the emergency specials and volunteers. The auxiliaries now number about 100, and as a large number of them are either old soldiers or ex-policemen they take kindly to the work, and perform it almost as efficiently as the men of the regular force. They are distributed among the various stations and are sent out in company with regular officers. Their presence has enabled an equal number of officers to enjoy a much-needed rest, which has greatly improved their condition, and this morning the force is in much better shape than at the close of the week. This morning fifteen additional emergency specials were sworn in, and Messrs. E. B. Johnson and Joseph A. Wherry were added to the ranks of the volunteers. The question of what to do with the proposition made by the Knights of Labor to provide a force of 800 special police officers is before the Police Board, and may be considered during the day. A Post-Dispatch reporter called upon Mayor Francis and Vice-President Blair and sought to elicit from them an expression of opinion regarding the proposition, but they declined to discuss the subject, stating that the matter will receive official attention in the usual way, and until then will not be discussed. Up to 11 a. m. no reports of disturbances had reached the Four Courts, and many were inclined to believe that the quiet was an indication that the spirit of the strikers was broken, and that all trouble was over.

At Central Turner Hall.

The street car strikers began arriving at Central Turner Hall early this morning, and immediately walked up to the hall. The men were quiet and orderly, and did not stop to talk or discuss matters on the street. A rumor prevailed for a while that the Benton-Bellefontaine Road had compromised with its striking employes, and that work would be resumed to-morrow morning. Mr. Casper Heep, secretary of the Knights of Labor, was approached by a Post-Dispatch reporter, who asked him concerning this rumor. Mr. Heep said: "There is no truth in it; we have compromised with no one as yet."

"What is your programme for to-day?"

"Well, nothing in particular. The men are coming here as per our orders, and we shall keep them here. We have taken in several new men from the Olive and Market streets lines, and will initiate them this morning. We are constantly receiving new accessions, and will send out several committees to-day to try and take in new members. The rest of the men will be kept here."

"What about the meeting yesterday at this hall?"

"You mean the socialists' meeting. We are receiving sympathy from all the workmen in the city, and the socialists tried to show their sympathy in their own peculiar way, and while we appreciate the sympathy, we do not countenance any incendiary demonstrations."

At the South End.

Captain Boyd succeeded in running out ten cars from the Fifth street stables at the south end this morning, sending two or three officers on each car, each making a successful trip. President Peper's son went as conductor on car 97, making a big trip through.

Capt. Boyd was obliged to send a message to the Four Courts for six officers to-day, as he had all his men on the street cars. The officers were sent him within a half-hour. Last night was the first time since Monday that Capt. Boyd had a good rest, and the officers, with no second invitation, followed their captian to the Gate Street Station, where they all turned in sleeping about seven hours.

A False Alarm.

About 7:30 o'clock this morning a big crowd gathered at the corner of Ninth and Carr streets, where the Union Line and the Mound City cross. From the Third District Station, a couple of blocks below, a Union Line double car could be seen in the midst of the crowd, and it was at once supposed that trouble had begun. The special detail of twenty policemen, accompanied by a Post-Dispatch reporter, ran to the scene as quickly as possible, to find that a runaway horse and wagon had collided with the car. The wagon was wrecked completely. The car was not much damaged.

A Terrible Warning.

The driver of car No. 97, of the Fifth street line, who is an old employe of the line and is not a striker, found the following warning stuck under his door yesterday:

> To Mr. or Mrs. Neimier—I tell you both as a friend that if you don't stay of fifth street you will be a dead man. So bear it well in your mind from a paicular good friend.

Mr. Neimier brought the warning to Police Captain Boyd, and said that he was poor and unable to pay his rent, and expected every moment to be put out of his house by his landlord.

He declared that he must do something to make a living, and remarked that if he had to die he might as well do so on his car as to remain at home and starve. So saying he took out his car, and returned after making a good trip.

Out a Nickel Apiece.

The hardships which the police have been undergoing during the past few days have been bad enough, but as if they were not bad enough, in some instances their personal expenses have been increased through their extra endeavors to preserve the peace of the community and the property of the street car capitalists. A case in point arose last night. All day long a gang of twenty policemen had been riding on the Union Depot Line, thus enabling the company to earn a large amount of money, which, in the absence of the police, would have been lost to them. At the close of the day when the cars where run into the barn the twenty policemen found themselves a very long distance from home. They suggested as much to Mr. Scullin, who was present, and he said that he would take them home in a wagon. After a while, however, he announced to Detective Badger that he was very sorry, but that he was unable to find a suitable wagon, and that they would have to get home some other way. Mr. Badger informed the gentleman that they would cross over to the Sixth street cars and ride on them, and said that he thought it would be only right that the company for which they had been working and in whose interest they found themselves so far away from home should pay their fares on the car. Mr. Scullin said that he was very sorry, but that he didn't have any change with him and so the officers paid their own fares.

An Angry Republican.

A correspondent who signs only the initials P. O. H., and who writes in French, sends the Post-Dispatch a communication saying that on Thursday last at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, on the corner of Sixth and O'Fallon streets, in front of the rag house, a priest, whose name he understands is Father Hays of St. Patrick's Church, stepped on a blockaded car, took the reins in his hands and spoke to the crowd in a most arrogant manner, defying them to make him come down or to touch the car, and that he drove the car for a block or so until his friends prevailed on him to leave the car, and, as our correspondent says, to finish his carnival. The letter closes with a $2 bill for which the Post-Dispatch has no use, and with the following question: "I demand to know whether the priests have a right to mix themselves up in the affairs of citizens in their social life; yes, or no."

This question the Post-Dispatch does not propose to answer, but if P. O. H. will call at the office and identify himself and prove his property his $2 bill will be returned to him.

The Arrests Made.

At 3:30 P. M.

At 3:30 p. m. to-day every line in the city was running, nearly all with a full complement of cars, and several under the escort of the police. No trouble had occurred, and the police stated that none was anticipated. The Cass Avenue, Fifth Street, Union Depot, Benton Bellefontaine and People's Roads carried policemen in order to avoid any possible trouble.

Notes.

Twenty-five of the special police are on duty in the Third District.

Sergeant Wm. Fox is in charge of the police at the Cass avenue stables, Sergeant Barney Willow at the Mound City stables, and Sergeant Thomas Hennesey at the Broadway stables.

Local Assembly No. 3034, Knights of Labor, have adopted resolutions extending the sympathy of the society to the street car strikers and pledging them all the support and assistance it their power.

Officer Wm. Durdy, of the Fourth District, while removing an obstruction off the tracks of the Benton-Bellefontaine Road at Eleventh and Buchanan streets, was attacked by a mob yesterday afternoon and severely beaten and kicked about the body.

The bravery of officers Schmidt and Herald in facing a howling mob of over 3,000 at Eleventh and Angelrodt streets, yesterday evening, making several arrests, clearing the streets and taking their prisoners to the station, is acknowledged on all sides.

At 1:30 this morning some wag reported to Sergeant Brown at the Four Courts that a gang of men was tearing up the tracks at Sixth and Locust streets. The six officers who repaired to the scene in the patrol wagon found a gang working on the Cable Road.

In a statement of the strength of the Knights of Labor, published on Saturday, a mistake was made in some of the figures. In the annual report made at the last meeting of the General Assembly, it appears that the balance in bank on September 1 of general funds was nearly $15,000. The increase in membership during the year was 75 per cent. Following is a statement of the growth of the order during the year ended June 30, 1885. Assemblies organized, 7,041; reorganized, 31; lapsed, 164; district assemblies organized, 19; lapsed, 2; local assemblies in good standing, 1,610; members in good standing, 104,066; in arrears, 7,329; total, 111,395.

A DESERVED PROMOTION.

George Olds Appointed General Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific.

Toronto, October 12.—Reported here on good authority that Geo. Olds, present traffic manager of Missouri Pacific Railway, has been offered and has accepted the position of general traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific System.

Run Out of Town.

In the First District Police Court this morning Judge Cady disposed of a large docket, including fifty-two prisoners who had been run in during Fair Week and whose cases were very summarily disposed of, twenty-nine of them pleading guilty to eighth clause vagrancy and twenty-three to idling. The usual fines were imposed and the prisoners were given one hour each in which to leave the city.

In the Court of Criminal Correction to-day James Clemens pleaded guilty to dealing in stamped bottles and was fined $10 and costs.

MINISTERS' MEETINGS.

Monday Gatherings at the Various Denominational Headquarters.

The pleasant face of Bishop Walden beamed on the Methodist ministers at their meeting this morning and the assembled divines were treated by him to an interesting talk of an hour on Methodist matters in the cofnerences of the West.

A large attendance of Presbyterians graced their assembly this morning, nearly every church in the city being represented in the gathering. A committee of five, consisting of Dr. Niccolls, chairman, Dr. Cooper, Dr. Brank, Revs. Shields and Brandt, was appointed to consider the condition of the religiously deserted portions of the city, obtain information from other cities and report in six weeks or less. A pleasing discussion was held concerning the silver anniversary on Friday of the marriage of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Vander Lippe of the First German Church.

At the Baptists' meeting Rev. Mr. Hoffman of the First German Church gave a translation of a German sermon. News was received of the death of Rev. J. R. Maupin, recently of the Southwestern Baptist College at Bolivar, Mo.

The Christian pastors had no formal meeting. President R. H. Johnson of Oskaloosa College, Iowa, was a visitor. The Southern Methodists had several pastors in attendance and heard routine reports. Bishop Granbery reported the conferences of the State as pleasant and harmonious, and as showing decided gains, the largest of which was in the St. Louis conferance.

EXCHANGE DIRECTORS.

Their Regular Meeting—A Serious Complaint—Smythe vs. Babcock.

The Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange met at 1 o'clock this afternoon and elected twenty-two new members. The appointment of James Webb by George M. Sayers as a Deputy Provission Inspector was approved. The $5,000 bond of J. G. Hinchman, appointed Provision Inspector at the last meeting was received and approved. On the recommendation of the Flour Inspectors Committee the standards of extra and superfine flour were dropped. These grades have not been used for a year past. On the recommendation of this committee a rule was adopted that when an appeal was taken and not sustained, it shall cost the person appealing $5, to be divided among the acting members of the Appeals Committee. The new standards of XX and XXX flour were presented and approved. The communication from the Chicago Board of Trade regarding hopper scale weights on grain sold f. o. b. was referred to the Grain Inspection Committee. The Board agreed to meet on Saturday at 1 p. m. to hear the remarks of the secretary of the Transportation Committee on the action of that committee in the matter of car load rates. The secretary submitted a financial report for the nine months ending October 1, showing receipts, $70,106 50; expenditures $53,466 86, leaving a balance on hand of $16,639 64. The secretary reported 337 delinquent members and a resolution was adopted to be voted on Saturday, October 24, authorizing the Board to expend $150,000 in the redemption of memberships during 1885-6, and appropriating for that purpose $5,000 out of the current revenues for 1885, and $10,000 out of the current revenues of 1886, the certificates to be purchased under the rule heretofore in force. The case of the complaint of Floor Manager Smythe against A. E. Babcock was set for hearing next Monday at 10 o'clock. A complaint was received against Edward Klein for failing to settle a claim against him growing out of a speculative transaction. The complainant, A. H. Hebard, says Klein owes him $462 50 on a "deal" taken last July, on which he failed to put up margins, and which was closed out by his instructions with this loss. The Board notified Mr. Klein to appear before them next Monday at 2 o'clock. The Board can censure, suspend or expel a member for this offense.

A FALSE REPORT.

The National Cattle and Horse Growers' Association Won't Borrow Money.

ST. PAUL, MINN., October 12.—Gen. G. S. Brisley, chairman of the executive committe of the National Cattle and Horse Growers' Association of the United States, desires to contradict a report sent out that the Executive Committee had borrowed or would borrow a large amount of money for the benefit of the Association. The Association, he asserted, does not need money, the members of the committee are abundantly able to meet all demands without borrowing.

A Freight Collision.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., October 12.—A freight train on the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad, going south without orders, ran into the caboose of another train three miles north of here yesterday, lifting the caboose bodily off the track and ditching seven cars loaded with furniture from Grand Rapids, much of which was ruined. Five cars and the engine were badly wrecked. The loss is fully $10,000.

ABOUT TOWN.

THE fifth complimentary hop of St. Patrick's Council, No. 4, will be held at St. Patrick's Hall, Wednesday evening, October 14.

THE Vincent Chautauqua Circle meets at 8 o'clock to-night at Pilgrim Church. The study of the evening will be devoted to the Punic wars.

AT THE Fair Grounds office there was an unusual bustle to-day. A large number of fortunate exhibitors having called to get their premiums.

H. B. DAVIS and wife, A. D. Knowlton and wife and J. Clark and wife returned this morning from a pleasant camping out on the White River of Kansas. Shooting prairie chicken and fishing was the passtime, and they report good luck.

THE meeting which was called for to-day by Secretary Kelly of the Transportation Committee of the Merchants' Exchange, of provision men, to discuss freight discrimination has been postponed on account of the unavoidable absence of many of the provision men.

Guessed Him.

From the Arkansaw Traveller.

"Speaking of General Stonewall Jackson's peculiarities," said an ex-Confederate, "why, sir, a whole book might be written about 'em. One time—I never shall forget it—we were on a forced march in Virginia. I was hungry as a wolf, and I had begun to grow tired of the Confederacy. Fighting for a principle was all well enough, you know—but I am drifting from my story. Well, we were marching along. I was a lieutenant, and I had not been very long with that division of the army and but few of the officers were known to me. Well, the rain was pouring down. One of my wagons got stuck fast in the mud. Oh, but I was mad, and I couldn't help swearing. Pretty soon an old fellow came riding along.

"'Say,' said I, 'you needn't sit there looking at that wagon. Get down and help the men haul it out.'

"He got down without a word of protest, put his shoulder to the wheel and tugged away. I didn't pay any particular attention to him aside from seeing that he was doing his duty. After awhile, when the wagon was rolled out, I felt sorry that I spoke so harshly to the old fellow. Well, to make a long story short, I'll bet you the drinks that you can't guess who that old fellow was."

"I'll take you," said one of the company. "He was Stonewall Jackson."

"No, sir; he was old Ben Bailey, a noted chicken peddler. Here, bring us the drinks."

THE SOMBER AUTUMN-TIDE.

And now comes October,
When husbands wear sober
And sorrowful faces when money they lack,
And not without reason,
For this is the season
When wives want that oft'-promised phoca-skin sacque.

"Where are my last year's rubbers, where?"
The husband now doth shout.
"I can't buy new, and I must wear
The old or go without;
Which means damp feet and sudden chills,
Pneumonia and doctors' bills."

The wife doth gently make reply:
"They were not fit to wear;
I threw them out, and you must buy,
This year, another pair.
You can't? He can do aught who wills—
Retrench, my love, your whisky bills."

* * *

"You are the autumn leaf," said he,
"And my arms are the book, you know;
Now I place the leaf in the book, you see,
And tenderly press it, so."

The maid looked up with glance demure,
And blushes her fair cheeks wore
As she softly whispered: "The leaf, I'm sure,
Needs pressing a little more."

A QUESTION ABOUT
Brown's Iron Bitters
ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and Druggists recommend it. The Genuine has Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

MONEY.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, October 12.—The week opened on the Stock Exchange with a strong and active market, first prices generally showing slight gains over Saturday's closing, from which there were fractional advances during the first part of the hour. Western Union, Northwestern and Missouri Pacific being prominent in the upward movement. After 10:30 there was a slight reaction which was generally recovered before 11 o'clock. At that hour the market was active and strong.

NEW YORK, October 12.—NOON—Money is easy at 1a2 per cent. Bar silver $1 02¾. The stock market has been very active throughout the past hour. After 10 o'clock it was rather heavy, but soon became strong, and by 11:30 had advanced ⅛ to 1 per cent, with Western Union, Union Pacific, Jersey Central and Lackawanna leading in the advance. Towards 12 o'clock, the market became more steady. Threes 103¼; 4½s 112¾; 4s 122¾, Pacific 6s of 125½.

NEW YORK, October 12, 3 P. M.—The stock market was less active and weak at 1 p. m. Prices declined from ⅛ to ⅜ per cent, but an upward movement soon set in and prices advanced to highest point of day. About 2 o'clock the market again became weak and so continued until close. The market closed irregular, feverish and active.

BOSTON, October 12.—Mexican Central 8½, 7s 42¼, scrip 72.

Commercial Notes.

The old stand-by of the wheat bulls came to their rescue for a short time this morning. "War in Europe" was again used as a bullish influence, but this newspaper correspondent's war only lasted during the early curb. The late advance in wheat has not improved the European demand for our product, has not checked the movement from farmers' hands and has not reduced the visible supply, but it has increased confidence and brought in recruits to the long side, and given the bulls a working capital in their profits that will give them a great deal more power than they have had for some time.——The changing of the weather map on 'Change is still delayed to a late hour, and the members express great disgust thereat. The changes should be made before business opens.——Any number of Exchange members are sporting on their left breasts stars with "M. P. 450" or some such number indicating that they have been sworn in as special policemen.——Private English cables were reported as quoting 6d decline, and large offerings of Russian, Danubian and Indian wheat, latter commencing February.——Will Boyd says he notices that a good many wheat traders who last week were playing the blue side of their cards are now working the red side. This translated means that last week's buyers are now sellers. ——Union Elevator No. 2 red wheat sold at 97¾c, and the holders of wheat in that elevator were seemingly anxious to sell, anticipating large arrivals of corn over the C. B. & Q. Road that will go to the Union. Other houses are said to be getting ready for an immense movement of corn to this market in the near future, and for that reason it is expected some of the wheat now being carried here will be dumped.——New York exports last week were 56,219 brls flour, 274,787 bus wheat, 512,166 bus corn, 238,116 bus oats.——Tom Caruthers of New York let the boys know he was around by dropping one lot of 150,000 bus May wheat on Moses Fraley, at $1 10⅜. Mr. C. bought this wheat Saturday at $1 09⅜ to pay his expenses. He goes to the Exposition to-night, it is needless to say.——Milmine, Bodman & Co., New York, wire J. C. MacGinnitie, that the amount of wheat afloat in New York harbor is 120,000 bu and afloat on call 800,000 bu. This is a decrease of 139,000 bu. in the former and 660,000 bu. in the canal.——The estimates on the visible supply of wheat were for about 1,500,000 bu increase early, and later were reduced to about half of that.——To-night is "Exchange night" at the Exposition, the members of the Merchants' Exchange attending in a body with their families. ——Toledo's stock of wheat has increased 126,000 bu to 1,994,976 bu.——The weevily wheat in Baltimore elevators that was posted Saturday sold to-day at 83c. This was 7½c below the price of regular No. 2.——Milwaukee's stock of wheat has decreased 50,700 bu to 3,067,700 bu.——Duluth's stock of wheat has increased 216,000 bu, and Minneapolis 464,000 bu larger.——New York's stock of wheat has increased 507,000 bu, corn decreased 133,000 bu, and oats increased 173,000 bushels.——The absence of city millers in the sample wheat corner was noticeable this forenoon. A few wandered around in an aimless manner, indifferently examining the samples brought for their inspection, but buying very little. Alex. Smith said the reason was that no nice wheat was offered, and that the millers were buying grade wheat principally, giving their contract for some option in exchange for the cash No. 2 wheat. Charley Hezel said the milling demand was slack, as the millers didn't want much. E. O. Stanard remarked: "Well, you see they got wheat several cents too high for the millers to grind and make flour without a loss. And cash wheat is up now to the price of October and near that of November, so that we can buy the cash No. 2 now, and there is more of this No. 2 offering than there was. The holders are hunting us up, instead of the millers hunting them up."

St. Louis Markets.

FORENOON SESSION, CLOSING 1 P. M.

Wheat—The European cables in the morning papers full of "war" news was the first thing to strike the speculative trader to-day, and the early curb in Chicago pointed to ½c advance. This inclined the local crowd to look for higher markets, though unchanged consols and quiet and steady public market cables did not indicate that the European trade looked for any disturbance in political circles. The "war," however, was very short-lived and the markets of this country failed to benefit to any extent. Later and private cables were dull and easier, one reporting 6d decline. The receipts in about all the markets of this country averaged very fairly, but were especially heavy in the Northwest, the total number of cars arriving in Minneapolis and Duluth amounting to 936 cars and 440 cars at Detroit. Indications all pointed toward a large increase in the visible supply, the stocks at nearly all points showing an increase. All this was bearish enough, but the market failed to down, though a good many wanted it to. But there were very few who would sell, and then only long stuff, not a man daring to sell short to any extent. In consequence of this there was not much offering, and later, with advances in other markets and estimates on the visible not showing such large increases as the earlier figuring, the market improved, finally closing ⅛@⅜c above Saturday. November sold at 97¾ to 98⅜, opening at the lowest and closing at the highest price; December at 99⅞@1 to $1 00⅝, opening at $1 and closing at $1 00⅜@½; June at $1 02⅜ to $1 02¾ and late $1 05½ bid; May at $1 10 at opening to $1 10⅜, closing at $1 10⅜. City millers bought rather slowly and lightly of cash grades, but paid full figures. No. 2 red 98@98¾ in U., 98 in V., 98⅛ bid for E, 98 for this side; No. 3 red 96½ in St. L. and M.; No. 4 86 regular; rejected 75 bid.

Corn weakened off ⅛@½c and was dull, with only a few trades made, as no one seemed inclined to do anything. October sold at 39 to 38⅞, November at 35⅜, year at 33⅞ to 33⅝, and January at 33⅜. May offered early at 36 and later that was bid. Cash No. 2 mixed declined ¼c, though the export demand took all there was for sale; rejected was also lower; but white-mixed grades held up firmly. No. 2 mixed 39¾ regular; No. 2 white-mixed 41⅜@41¼ in St. L.; rejected do 40½ in C.; rejected 38¼ E. side and in M., C. and St. L., later 38 asked for C.; no-grade 35 bid this side.

Oats—Futures were dull and rather weak. The only trade was in May at 29⅛ and more was offered at that with 29⅛ bid. October offered at 24⅛, bid 24⅛. November at 24⅛@25, bid 24⅛; year at 24⅛, bid 24⅛@⅜. The order demand continued active for cash grades and rejected sold ⅛@⅜c lower at 24@24½ regular, 24⅛ in St. L.; No. 2 opened ⅛c lower for regular at 24⅛, but at once improved to 25 and St. L. sold at 25⅛.

Rye irregular, though in order demand. Grade No. 2 sold 1c lower at 58 in St. L., but rejected in M. brought 57⅛; for No. 2 E. side 58⅛ was bid.

Barley was firm, and there were more buyers in the field, but no increased business resulted. Prices ranged as follows: Rejected 40@45; No. 3 50@55; prime 60@65; choice 70@80; fancy 85@90.

Flour—The market was very firm, but without quotable change in values, the general tendency, however, being decidedly bullish. Trading was mostly on Southern order account, the local and shipping demand being rather quiet. The basis for sales was as follows: xx $3 30@3 40; xxx $3 50@3 60; family $3 70 @3 80; choice $3 95@4 05; fancy $4 45@4 55; extra do. including favorite brands, $4 70@4 90; patent $5 15@5 50. These prices are for lots on arrival at depot and levee; order lots higher.

Cornmeal—Steady at $1 90@1 95 city on orders delivered; pearl meal and grits nominal at $2 75@3 00.

Rye Flour—Quiet at $3 65@3 75.

Bran steady and quiet. Sacked bran sold track this side at 66, at mill at 65, E. track at 64, and country point at 60; bulk 53 at country point.

Hay was in large supply, the offerings this side being particularly heavy, but all choice sold readily at steady rates to the local trade. The lower qualities were dull. Quotations are as follows: This side—Prairie $7@9 00; mixed $8@10; timothy $10 50 to $13 for prime to fancy; East track stock sells about 50c per ton below above rates.

Provisions—A first-rate demand for bacon, though at easier rates, but that is about all the good there was in the market. Other parts of the product were very dull and little sold, but unchanged rates were demanded by the sellers. Standard mess pork was held at $8 87½ and hardside at $8 62½. Prime steam lard sold at 5.90. Loose dry salt f. o. b. on cash orders nominal at 3.30 for shoulders, 5.30 for longs, 5½ for c'ribs and 5.70 for shorts; nothing done in up country meats, but late Saturday winter c'ribs sold to arrive at 5¼ o and f here. Packed bacon shoulders 3⅞@3⅝, longs 5.80a5.85, c'ribs 6.05 and shorts 6.35a6.45; loose shorts 6.27½. Country bacon, sides 5⅛@6; shoulders 3@3⅛; hams 6⅛@7⅛. Country lard 5⅛@5⅝ in irregular pkgs. City hams 9¼@11. Breakfast bacon 7⅛@9⅛. Beef—Family $10@13 ⅌ brl, according to brand; on orders, higher, $6@7 per ½-brl; dried $10@11; selected $18; smoked tongues $5@5 50 per doz. Tallow—Strictly prime, in oil barrels, 5⅛; No. 2 5; choice in irregular packages 5⅛; No. 2 4⅛; tallow grease 4⅛@4⅛. Grease—Brown and yellow 3@4; white 4⅛@4⅝. Salt—Domestic $1 05@1 10 per brl, as in size of lot; ground alum $1 10 per sack—small way higher.

Highwines—Finished goods firm on a basis of $1 03, and sales of 255 brls spirits and alcohol on a basis of $1 07. Cincinnati easier at $1 05. Chicago $1 10. Peoria firm at $1 04.

Lead—Declining, with a very weak market, and no buyers at any price, seemingly. Desilverized refined was offered at $4 10 and was seeking buyers at that. Chemical hard could be bought at $4 05 this side.

Cotton.

Local market quiet and unchanged: demand light and sales for to-day 536 bales. As compared with Saturday's closing prices, to-day's rates for futures showed an advance at both New Orleans and New York, though opening lower. Trading was fair at the advance, but before the close values weakened and eased up a point or two, but subsequently advanced and closed firm at 1 to 2 points higher. Spots found a moderately active movement and the various markets on this side presented no very noticeable features, firm rates being maintained at all points. Liverpool advices were not encouraging, spots in that market being dull and in buyers' favor, and futures dull at the decline.

LOCAL SPOT QUOTATIONS—Low to ordinary 7½; ordinary 8; good ordinary 8⅝; low middling 9⅛; middling 9⅛; good middling 9⅝; middling fair 10⅛; stained and tinged not quoted.

CATTLE—Considering that the demand this morning was good and not without urgency, the amount of business transacted was small and the movement slow and draggy from the start to finish. The inquiry was confined to the local and dressed beef trade, but their wants were sufficient to make a big hole in the offerings had they been of a quality to induce free buying, but unfortunately this was not the case, as out of the whole number offered there were but one or two loads that could be called decent, and very few that would tempt buyers to a second look. The result was that buyers moved with great caution and worked hard for concessions, which in many instances they succeeded in getting, but their purchases were small.

HOGS—The market broke early and continued weak and inactive during most of the morning. Offerings were fairly large and at the start there was a good trade on speculators and local butchers' account, the former paying from $3 35@3 70, and the latter $3 80@3 95, but mostly $3 95 for selections. The shipping demand was light and prices lower, the tops for sorted yorkers and lights bringing only $3 70, the range being quoted from $3 65@3 70. There was some demand for pigs, with sales at $3 25, but the shipping movement as a rule was slow. On local packers' account there was only a fair amount of business done on a basis of $3 25@3 60, some choice medium weights bringing as much as $3 65, but most sales were within this figure.

The new Inspector of Steamboats, Capt. David Asbury, enters upon his duties Wednesday.

The City of St. Louis is at the bank temporarily, on the east side of the river awaiting her day in the line.

Capt. Cons. Millar, the veteran river editor of the Commercial Gazette, is seriously ill at his home in Cincinnati.

The magnificent side wheel steamers of the Anchor Line are all in splendid condition for the fall and winter season, and leave promptly at the advertised hours.

The big pusher, Henry Lourey of the St. Louis and Mississippi Valley Transportation Company and barges, are announced for New Orleans on Saturday at 6 p. m. James Burdeau, agent.

The St. Louis and St. Paul Packet Co. will send the flying War Eagle out for St. Paul on Wednesday at 4 p. m., with Capt. Tom Davidson on the roof, and the brilliant Gem City, Geo. Davis, master, for Keokuk at 4 p. m. to-morrow.

The Anchor Line announces the daisy City of Cairo, for Vicksburg at 5 p. m. to-morrow, to be followed by the City of Orleans for the Crescent City on Wednesday at 5 p. m., and the Emma C. Elliot for Grand Tower at 4 p. m. Thursday, Jno. W. Carroll, agent.

The Sidney, of the Diamond Jo Line, skipped out for St. Paul with her guards in the water and her cabin filled with people, to be followed by the Mary Morton on Wednesday at 4 p. m., sharp, and the Josephine on Friday p. m. for Davenport and Rock Island.

The harbor just below the ferry landing at Chester has been selected by Capt. J. H. Willard of the United States Engineer Corps as a winter retirement for all boats under his supervision. It is believed the fleet of Major Ernst will winter in the same harbor, said to be one of the best and safest on the river.

THE business men's meeting speaks straight from the shoulder.

LAST week was the week set for MR. HYDE'S appointment. This is the week for his disappointment.

ST. LOUIS has had a week of pleasure. Now let us settle this street car difficulty and get down to business.

THE debate in Ohio is over and MR. FORAKER will not know until to-morrow night whether he is a Prohibitionist or not.

THE business men call on the Mayor to "stop monkeying," to suppress the disorders and restore street car communication throughout the city.

BETWEEN the regular police and the special police let us hope that the plain citizens of St. Louis will be permitted to get their customary street car accommodations.

JUDGE THAYER, a good Democratic Judge, this morning gives the Temple Committee a black eye by reinstating Judge DENISON. The Offensive Partisan must stay.

THE gradual disappearance of the one and two dollar bills is creating a serious nuisance. The convenience of fifty or sixty millions of people apparently does not count for anything in the management of the currency bureau of the Treasury, but a little thing like this annoys them.

THE Mexican Financier, which is a leading authority on Mexican affairs, speaks very bitterly of the removal of Consul-General STROTHER after he had admirably qualified himself for the duties of that important place. The Mexican Financier is blind to the advantages of having a Consul-General who is brother-in-law to a Senator.

JAY GOULD has promised to give himself a new Union Depot, provided St. Louis will do the proper thing in giving him the right of way into it. JAY GOULD is so conscientious about these little things that he will not even increase his own facilities for doing business unless he is compensated for the sacrifices he makes.

THERE are some forty or fifty loud-mouthed anarchists in St. Louis who are under the delusion that the four hundred thousand of decent citizens in this city exist only by their good will and pleasure. One of them yesterday advocated the murder of street car drivers. They should be punished for attempting to disturb the peace.

DURING the continuance of the strike anonymous letters to the POST-DISPATCH, taking either side of the question and showing up the iniquity of the other side, are consigned to the waste-paper basket. We mention this for the benefit of our very numerous volunteer correspondents and at the risk of diminishing the postal revenues of the country.

THE saddest thing about the delay in the appointment of a Postmaster for St. Louis is that Col. PRATHER is compelled to come home without the appointment in his pocket. He was willing to stay in Washington to the end, until the reports of the fishing in Black River began to come in and overpowered his sense of personal friendship and public duty.

THE testimony of eye-witnesses given at the inquest on the death of HAVEY is irreconcileable. One of the witnesses who is most positive in his testimony and in his condemnation of the shooting declares that it was not officer HANNON but officer GRIFFITHS who fired the fatal shot. With testimony so directly contradictory it is impossible to decide on the merits of the case, which is deeply to be regretted.

OFFICERS of the Standard Oil Company have been arraigned in Buffalo under an indictment charging them with conspiracy to crush the Buffalo Lubricating Oil Company by sundry unlawful means, among which were the burning and blowing up of the latter's works, and the destruction of its business by subornation of perjury and by unfairly inducing railroads to discriminate against its products. The general opinion is that these are among the most venial of the means by which the great oil monopoly has built itself up. It has never yet been indicted for the bribery and corruption which have procured it the political protection without which it could not have so long escaped indictment and punishment for its minor crimes.

AN IMPORTANT ADMISSION.

In accusing the merchants of St. Louis of lack of enterprise and in laying on them the blame of freight discrimination Mr. GOULD is more frank than our local managers have been. They have refused to admit that there was any discrimination against St. Louis, while he virtually admits it in saying that if the merchants will give him the freight to carry he will give them the rates.

He is more frank than logical, and if the merchants of St. Louis will push their argument he cannot fail to see wherein he is wrong. He imposes rates which prevent St. Louis from making shipments and then says that the failure of St. Louis to make shipments is the reason why his rates are high. Our answer is that the only obstacle in the way of shipments is the existence of discriminating rates. We cannot make shipments under existing rates, but he can lower the rates so as to make shipments possible. It is not the merchants of St. Louis who stand in Mr. GOULD'S way; it is Mr. GOULD'S rates which stand in the way of the trade of St. Louis and of the business of Mr. GOULD'S roads.

All talk about the lack of enterprise of the St. Louis merchants is bosh. There is such a thing as handicaping the best horse in the world too heavily, and St. Louis has always been heavily handicaped. The achievements of the St. Louis merchants under the burdens which have been laid on their trade show what they could do under fair treatment. All they ask is to have artificial and unjust discriminations removed, and they will answer for the result.

It is a great deal to have gained from Mr. GOULD the admission that such discriminations exist. That is the first step towards removing them. If this advantage is pushed the other steps will follow.

MR. BAYARD is not a Marcy, and his work so far promises anything but a brilliant, or even satisfactory, administration of the State Department. But his letter to Mr. WILLIAM A. DAVIS' attorney hardly affords ground for the charge that he has exhibited "excessive caution and a nervous dread of saying something that might seem unpleasant to the British Foreign Office." He simply informed the attorney that the reports of Minister LOWELL, and the other documents on file in the department, afforded no ground for diplomatic intervention in Mr. DAVIS' behalf, and that until such ground should be provided in the shape of affidavits, Mr. DAVIS would have to fall back on his remedy by suit for false imprisonment. As Mr. DAVIS had been imprisoned for twelve days in Ireland in 1882, and had promptly made complaint to Minister LOWELL, but got no help from a Republican Administration, and not even a letter of advice during the two following years, the Republican organs are only stultifying themselves in attacking BAYARD rather than FRELINGHUYSEN and LOWELL for not interfering in DAVIS' behalf. Mr. BAYARD had to pass upon the case according to the record of it left by his Republican predecessors in office, and the organs that approved or apologized for their negligent or feeble action on the complaints of American citizens abroad, have as yet no grounds for accusing him of similar neglect or timidity.

THE question of the validity of the Bell telephone patents is not affected by the ownership of stock in a rival company by Attorney-General GARLAND or any one else. The charge that the Bell patent was unfairly obtained is made under evidence which lends belief, and the career of the company since its monopoly was established has been such as to create a general desire to see that monopoly overthrown. If the validity of the Bell patent should be overthrown, it would give us some hope of better service in the future, but it would not permit us to get back the millions of dollars out of which the people have been gouged by the monopoly.

THE events of the last three days have proved that St. Louis is troubled by gangs of hoodlums and toughs who are ready to take advantage of every occasion to make trouble. No one ever supposed that St. Louis, or any other great city, was wholly free from such undesirable citizens, and it does not surprise any one to find them engaged in their congenial task of stoning street cars, assaulting women and children, beating unarmed men, and otherwise making themselves troublesome. We look to the police to put an end to these disturbances, and we look to the courts to give the rioters the full benefit of the law.

THE stoppage of street cars in the public thoroughfares of this great city by organized bands of marauders, who order the passengers out, beat the drivers and conductors, cut the traces and overturn the cars, carries us back at once to the good old days of highwaymen and of picturesque brigandage. That such things should be done in broad day light in the streets of a modern city and should be repeated day after day without any of the ruffians being punished would be incredible if it were not an actual fact.

Grand Old St. Louis.

From the La Grange Democrat.

Missourians should be proud of St. Louis, and take pleasure in anything that tends to its improvement and up-building. It is indeed a grand city, and made up of enterprising, progressive citizens, the word of its critics and enemies to the contrary, notwithstanding. Always conservative and judicious, it has, withal, enough push and vim for any emergency, and best of all, it has the solid wealth to furnish a foundation that will safely bear any superstructure that may be reared. Chicago may blow and bluster but it finds St. Louis in many respects more than its equal. This festival week in progress in St. Louis alone should dim the lights and subdue the trumpet tones of boasting in the city by the lake for a year at least. Our St. Louis does well in devoting so much means and studied pains to the Fair Week festivities. Strangers are drawn thither and impressed with its greatness as a manufacturing and commercial center. Citizens of our State who are accustomed to berate the city's slothfulness without knowing what they say, are by a visit convinced of their error and sent home with the appreciation they had before so woefully lacked.

Cockrell's Task.

From the Springfield Leader.

Senator Cockrell has a difficult task to perform. He is a candidate for re-election. He wants the vote of Greene County. There are said to be seven applicants for the Post Office. Six must be disappointed, and thereby Senator Cockrell makes six enemies. This is not pleasant, but it is a political truth, established by experience, that often those disappointed in their political ambition turn upon the party that caused it and become its enemy. Of the seven gentlemen mentioned for Postmaster six are worthy and deserving; the seventh is entirely unfit by nature, and his appointment would be odious to a large majority of the people. Unfortunately, this man seems to hold the winning card, and is generally regarded as the successor of Mr. Shipley, owing to his intimate relations with Senator Cockrell. We believe nothing of the kind. Senator Cockrell has too much political sense to arouse such an opposition. The Land Office is another bone of contention. Many are calling, but few will get there. The same rule works in this connection, and whatever may be the result Senator Cockrell will suffer. We mention this as part of the political gossip, wishing, in this connection, to say that this paper will support Senator Cockrell for re-election.

Eph. Ewing's Predecessor.

From the Mexican Financier.

The removal of Consul-General Strother, who for six years efficiently represented the United States Government at this capital, was a serious blunder. Presumably Mr. Strother was recalled home because his politics were not in accordance with those of the Administration, but commerce knows neither Democracy nor Republicanism. Mr. Strother had acquired just that experience in Mexican business and customs, and in the language, which makes a consular representative valuable. The Boston Herald, speaking recently in a complimentary manner of Mr. Lionel Carden, the British special agent here, intimates that Mr. Carden is a diplomatic representative of exceptional ability, an opinion in which we freely concur. But the system under which diplomatic agents of this type are formed is a very different one from that which officially decapitated Consul-General Strother in the maturity of his usefulness and experience.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, October 12.—The WORLD, in its editorial column, says to-day: "A Vice-President may not be able to control the destinies of the nation, but he can enjoy life. Mr. Hendricks has been soaring around the pinnacle of human happiness in St. Louis for a week. He has been a social lion. Banquets and receptions have been his. It might be said that the city was illuminated in his honor. Mr. Hendricks is not only an affable and social gentleman, but he has some old-fashioned Andrew Jackson ideas that seem to endear him to the public—especially the open-hearted Western public. Mr. Hendricks should attend all the big fairs and gather enjoyment while it sparkles in the sunlight."

THE TRIBUNE.

The Tribune says: "John Roach, the lowest bidder for the first four ships, cannot compete for the five new vessels, because he has been driven into bankruptcy by the Administration. Not one of his former competitors will be anxious for the job, since under the present management the Department expects contractors to guarantee the results when they do not model the ship or design the engine, and deals with them as public plunderers who are to be exposed, prosecuted and ruined for the sake of adverting a 'reform' Administration. No; the new ships must be built as the Mohican was, at the navy yards, and that implies an immense delay and a frightful bill of expenditures."

THE TIMES.

The Times says: "The Republicans of Ohio are apparently more confident of victory in to-morrow's election than their opponents. The Democrats have made the most of Senator Sherman's mistake in making his campaign speeches a series of violent sectional harangues, but the benefit they have derived from the Senator's vote-repelling discourses has been limited by a distinct popular recollection of some pretty serious faults of the Administration on their part."

THE SUN.

The Sun says: "One of the committees of Congress which have been engaged during the summer in visiting and investigating the Indians discovered among the half-civilized tribes an old chief who had $25,000 in bank, and yet insisted upon wearing a blanket. The blanket, the committee concludes, is the 'badge of barbarianism, which the Indians seem most unwilling to surrender.' Yet, if the old capitalist's garments were complete and decorous in other respects, according to the standard of civilization, the blanket should hardly count against him. Occasionally, in crowded cities, men may still be found wearing in winter the heavy blanket shawls which were almost universal a quarter of a century ago. Their excuse for carrying about these relics of a bygone era is that they are comfortable, and, no doubt, this is also the plea of the red redskin in domains not yet reached by the fashionable tailor."

Garland's Telephone Stock.

EUREKA SPRINGS, ARK., October 9, 1885.

To the Editor of the POST-DISPATCH.

Did Attorney-General Garland acquire the telephone stock before or after he was elected Attorney-General? If before, should a member of the Cabinet give up all acquisitions which may come in conflict with the United States Government Courts in which the Attorney-General has a duty to perform? A number of your subscribers here fail to see in what Garland has done wrong. Will you enlighten them?

VIRGINIANS VEXED.

The Appointment of Mr. Curry Will Cause Hard Feeling.

The New Minister to Spain an Able, Honorable, Upright and Rich Man—Party Men Disappointed—Bishop Cannon, the Leader of the Mormon Revolt—His Argument in Favor of Polygamy—Ex-Minister Taft.

Special Correspondence of the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, October 9.—Mr. Curry, the new Minister to Spain, was not recommended by any of the Virginia delegation in Congress. He has been out of politics for a number of years. He is a tall, angular man, with the air of reserve of a college professor. He dislikes society, and is not at ease except in his study. None of the Virginians consider him a true representative of that State any more than was Mr. Keiley. He did not come to Virginia to reside until after the late war. He married, soon after taking up his residence in Richmond, a Miss Thomas of that city. The Thomas family was very rich. His wife since the marriage has inherited a very large fortune. The family was very religious. Mr. Curry has always been considered a religious man, but it is understood that he became ordained as a minister out of compliment to the wishes of his wife. It is said that he has never had a regular charge and has never preached. Several years ago the rich friends of the Thomas family pushed him forward for the secretaryship and agency of the Peabody Trust Fund. The salary of this place is $5,000 a year. In addition to this, he has been president of the Richmond University, which is a theological institute.

Everybody from Virginia is of the opinion that Mr. Curry is an able man, has high character and sufficient ability to discharge the duties of his new position respectably. Outside of political considerations, they say that there is very little to criticise in the appointment. Mr. Curry has been an admirer of Mr. Bayard's for some years, as was Mr. Keiley. They think that if Mr. Bayard wished to compliment Virginia he should have taken some representative Virginian, some one of the old families that have been long identified with her history. If he had desired to go outside of the politicians and recognize the educational institutions of Virginia, they think he would have done well to have taken Custis Lee, the son of Gen. Robert E. Lee and the president of the Washington and Lee University. As one very well-known Virginian said to me last night, "I like Mr. Curry. I know him to be an honorable, upright man. But it is very hard for our leading men, who have fought for so many years in Virginia to save that State from hell in the shape of Mahone and his crowd, to be ignored. Most of our Virginia leaders are poor. Such an office as the Spanish Mission would have been very grateful to at least a dozen of our representative men. To take a man who was rich already, and in a most comfortable position in a State where poverty is the rule, will also cause hard feeling. Mr. Curry never took part in any of the campaigns in Virginia, except once. That was when the McCulloch bill for funding the debt was up as an issue in the State. Mr. Curry then made one or two speeches on the side of the debt payers."

Bishop Cannon, who is leading the Mormon revolt against the United States authorities, is, to-day, one of the most powerful men in the Mormon Church. He was a delegate from that Territory to Congress until practising polygamists were forbidden to hold office. He has been here every winter and has had control of what is known as the Mormon Lobby at Washington. He is next to the head of the Church, and, in time, will doubtless be the successor of Brigham Young. He is a short man with a very stout figure. He is very thick through the chest. His shoulders are very broad. His legs are not in proportion to the size of his trunk. His head is large and quite round. His hair is gray and thin upon the top. He is smooth-shaven. His face is very high-colored and double-chinned. His eyes are a pale blue, watery and bulging. They have what is called the peeled onion expression. His nose is a square-based hook. He is one of the most enthusiastic of fanatics. He was born in Utah and has imbibed Mormonism from his very birth. He sincerely believes that martyrdom is necessary for the future prosperity of the Mormon Church. He has counseled his people to resist by strategem first the attempt of the Government to suppress polygamy. From his character and talk I am certain that he will stop at nothing where his religion is assailed. I have heard him say over and over again that the Mormons never would give up polygamy and that no power on earth could compel them to do so.

He argues that polygamy is the sole remedy for immorality throughout the country. He says that he has talked with a great many leading public men of this country, who practically agree with him. He bases the theories of polygamy upon the doctrines of stirpiculture. He thinks that better children are raised under the system of polygamy. In other societies where a man has an invalid wife he is debarred from having children, whereas under their system the husband would be able to take another wife and by her have a family without neglecting the first. It is also his receipt for improving uncongenial marriages.

Mr. Taft, our late Minister to Russia, has been in Washington for the last three or four days, winding up his business with the State Department. The severe climate of St. Petersburg does not appear to have affected Mr. Taft's health. He looks as hard and brown as if he were just in from some country farm. He is still as absent-minded as ever. When he was Attorney-General, lawyers who had arguments to make before him in the forenoon and who called in the afternoon to complete them, would always have to reintroduce themselves. He was Grant's Secretary of War for a few weeks, but gave way for Don Cameron and was transferred to the Department of Justice, where he was more at home.

DISGUISED VARIETY.

Specialty Vehicles at Pope's and the Grand—Attractions at the Theaters.

Variety made a desperate assault on the legitimate last night. It had the courtesy to assume a virtue and was thinly disguised; nevertheless, it was variety. It might have been one step in the series of evolutions which changes the "laughable afterpiece" of the Vaudeville boards into the musical farce-comedy which passes current as a play. This much of an advance was made; a real flesh-and-blood human being, in place of the stuffed dummy, was yanked into the flies at the climax. At Pope's it was a Chinaman, and at the Grand it was a negro. Otherwise the enlargement was rather the consequence of inflation than actual growth. The afterpiece was treated to a stout pair of lungs and a quill.

The stuffed dummy, I take it, is the brainless author's best friend; it is his substitute for wit. The pistol shooting, ham-fat, stuffed club, dummy yanking climax means that the author of the skit has stumbled in his career on a wider expanse of inventionless desert than usual and proceeds to fill it. He recognizes the fact that he will always find sympathizers in an audience.

There is a great deal of talk about vehicle plays. This means that the plays do not amount to much, but are only vehicles for the display of special talents. In a vast number of cases these vehicles resemble the carts of the rag picker and the old clo' man. They contain a little of everything and mostly trash. It is an unusually fortunate occurrence if one runs across a vehicle play with anything else in it, and so on general principle plays of this kind are to be condemned, and it takes a large amount of talent to justify their presentation. There are two vehicles in town this week.

Kelly and Mason have one at Pope's in "The Tigers." Kelly and Mason were clever variety people, and gave an entertaining character sketch. It is in the line of progress to advance from a sketch to a play, and they deserve credit for the effort to get higher. A character sustained through a play is a more meritorious performance than a character sketch. Messrs. Kelly and Mason have taken their hod-carriers, have surrounded them with a plot, with other people, and have given them situations to develop and characters to sustain under varying circumstances; have made of them parts of a play instead of a couple of dialecticians only. All of this is good, and it is an advance. The nature of the play prevents it being a great advance. They do not depend on artistic characterization, humorous situations and bright action and dialogue to sustain the interest of the audience. They call in the aid of all the devices imaginable of the farcist to make fun. In one act of "The Tigers" a sandbag drops out of a balloon and nearly brains a pedestrian; there is a burlesque ballet dancer, a Hindoo juggler, a dancing elephant, a street fakir, a Chinese laundryman and a general smashup, in which the Chinaman is jerked into the flies and "Liberty Enlightening the World" rises triumphant over the wreck of a dime museum. This is a section of "The Tigers." The two principals were clever and entertaining in their way, not any more so, however, than they were in their sketch, and they have surrounded themselves with some bright people. Lena Merville was dashing, vivacious and bright as Bob, and a fair bad boy was made out of Pansy by Harry Kelly. The house was light, but received the specialties and the play with enthusiastic warmth.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hart also presented a vehicle in which the wares were nearly as much mixed at the Grand. They had a good audience to welcome them. "Buttons" is a conglomeration of pretty much everything. Tony Hart himself appeared as Tommy Buttons, a mischievous boy; as Miss Lavinia Johnsing, a colored lady of culture; Mrs. McGonigle, an Irish woman, and as Sam'l O'Sup-Posen, a clever imitation of M. B. Curtis. Mrs. Hart appeared as Tilly Buttons, a terrible young one; Rebecca and Polly, the pride of the regiment. Mr. Barney Reynolds, Mr. Eugene Ormand, Miss Addie Cora Reid, Mrs. Helena Hardenbaugh, and Miss Fanny Redding, the other members of the company, appeared in a variety of characters. There is little or no plot to speak of, and songs, dances and specialties are introduced with slight connection or regard for reasonable sequence. The last act was made up of gems from operas and specialties, some of which might have been omitted to advantage, as the piece dragged somewhat towards the last. Mr. Reynolds made a hit with his recitations and imitations, and there are several good voices in the company, notably Miss Reid's and Mr. Reynolds'. Mr. and Mrs. Hart were warmly received.

A fine audience greeted that bright little soubrette, Lizzie Evans, at the People's in the new play written by Con F. Murphy, "Florette." She was supported by E. R. Marsden, E. C. Calvert, Henry Scharf, Will D. Ingram, Ed. L. Snader, Miss Tillie Shields, Miss Jessie Dean, Miss Alice Sawyer and Steve Corey. "Florette" will be given until Wednesday night inclusive, and will be followed by "Fogg's Ferry."

Grau's English Opera Company opened to a fair audience at the Standard in "The Mascot" with a cast composed of Mr. Max Figman as Lorenzo, Mr. W. H. Waldo as Pippo, Mr. H. H. Howard as Rocco, Miss Helen Cooper as Bettina, Miss Annie Barret as Prince Frederic, Miss Duddie M. McGuire as Fiametta and Messrs. Chas Haywood, F. Ruth, W. Emerson and Misses Bertha Wilson and Lizzie Gonzalas in minor parts. The opera was handsomely mounted and costumed and was received with strong appreciation. To-night, "Queen's Lace Handkerchief" will be presented; to-morrow afternoon, "The Mascot" and to-morrow night, "Pinafore."

E. D. Tannehill's Comedy Company presented "Fun on the Bristol" at the Casino yesterday afternoon and night to fair houses. Miss St. George Hussey was the bright particular star and gave a dashing impersonation of the Widow O'Brien. Miss Bessie Cottrill sings sweetly and made a decided hit as Belle Thompson; Miss Marie Heath sang "I'm so Shy" with such artistic cleverness that she carried the house by storm. There was nothing worth mention about the others. A burlesque of "Fatka" closed the entertainment. "Fun on the Bristol" will run for the week with the usual matinees.

NOTES.

To-night, at the Olympic, Mr. Joseph Jefferson and his company will present a double bill, composed of "Cricket on the Hearth" and "Lend Me Five Shillings." The bill will be changed Thursday night to "Rip Van Winkle."

The Palace Museum presented an almost entire new bill yesterday, consisting of the Kee-Bo, the wonderful girl who has attracted so much attention; Prof. E. G. Johnson, the mesmerist; Jennie Quigley, the diminutive prima donna; Prof. Weitzman, the Russian wire walker, and a great variety of the dude species, with a new and attractive stage show.

"The Siege of Paris" has lost none of its drawing power. Its extent, faithfulness to truth, fullness of detail and realistic scenes make it one of the finest exhibitions that can be seen in the city.

The Fair Ground and Zoological Garden are attractive resorts, and are open daily to the public.

DROPPED DEAD.

Fatal Fight in a Tenement—Burned to Death—Missouri Matters.

KIRKSVILLE, October 12.—Mrs. L. A. Willard, wife of a business man, dropped dead yesterday from heart disease.

SPRINGFIELD, October 12.—A difficulty occurred yesterday among families in a tenement, formerly known as the Orphans' Home. It resulted in Frank Stone receiving a fatal stab at the hands of Scott Reeves. The police have not been able to find Reeves.

CLARKSVILLE, October 12.—William Tillott, an old gentleman in his 85th year, fell yesterday in a fit of vertigo into a blazing fire-place, and was burned to death.

ST. JOSEPH, October 12.—Sam Jones, the evangelist, closed his series of revival services here yesterday. There was an attendance of 18,000 people under the canvas, and the congregation subscribed $45,000 for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building. Among the converts was Senator Walter Young. John McGunn, a brakeman, fell between the cars on the St. Joseph and Des Moines road yesterday, and was crushed to death.

TOLONO, October 12.—Mrs. Sarah Davis, who was imprisoned for 200 days for selling liquor without a licence, will be released next week. She has been fined $10,000 in the aggregate in prosecutions extending over several years.

THE FIRST FLAG.

Cold Wave Warning Goes Up—The Signal Service Begins Its Winter Campaign.

After a summer sleep the piratically called black flag again flaunts its frigid folds in the public eye, owing to an order received early this morning from the chief signal officer at Washington, announcing the approach of a cold wave from the northwest which will lower the temperature in this vicinity from fifteen to twenty-five degrees in thirty-two hours. This is the first time the flag has been floated since the new rule went into effect last spring that no warning should be given by flag unless the temperature fell to 45 degrees. As the mercury marked only 58 degrees here this morning, a fall of even 15 degrees, the smallest drop expected, would send the record below the 45 degree mark and justify the flying of the banner. In the Northwest the mercury is below the freezing line at several places, but the wave was still so far in the Northwest this morning that at St. Paul not all was reported at 6 a. m. At Fort Custer, Mont., however, it was as low as 25°, at Bismarck 27°, at Fort Buford 28°, and at Cheyenne 28°. The barometer at both St. Paul and St. Louis was very low to-day, indicating that a downward flow of cold air is inevitable. Its effects will not be felt in this city until this evening, but it is expected that the wind will get in the north by morning and cool things off.

PASSED THROUGH.

The Crowd That Welcomed Senator Cockrell at the Depot.

The old maxim that the early bird catches the worm was exemplified this morning in the attendance at the Union Depot of a flock of office-seekers. It had been announced that Senator Cockrell would be in the city this morning, and as it was not known whether or not he would remain here for any length of time, those who were determined to see him arose early, took a cocktail and a blue line car and paced the platform of the Union Depot until the Vandalia train arrived. The Vandalia train came in on time and the committee on welcome threw their eagle eyes on the sleeper. The Senator was evidently expecting something of the kind, for he stepped out on the south side of the train, and, with a young lady on his arm, made a roundabout trip to the ticket office. Here he was discovered buying two tickets for Warrensburg by an applicant for a federal office, who immediately shook hands with the Senator and began a talk with him:

"When will the Postmaster be appointed?" he asked.

"This week some time," replied the Senator.

"How about the other offices?"

"Well, I think the President will hold those over until the very last."

"Then we can't hope for a change right away?"

"I think not. Will you excuse me now, I am going to breakfast."

The Senator turned and moved with the young lady toward the dining-room. By this time a number of disappointed faces that had turned away from the train lighted up and a rush was made to intercept the Senator. Mr. Cockrell got into the dining room ahead of them, however, and remained there for a half hour nearly. When he emerged he went directly to the train and it is not known whether those who came down to see him had a chance to exchange any words or not. Mr. Wm. Hyde had a little conference with him.

DIXON WANTS DAMAGES.

A Southern Libel Suit Affecting Hundreds of Newspapers.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., October 12.—Ex-Postmaster-General Key, presiding in the United States Court here, is trying the libel suit for $20,000 damages against the Times by Dixon, the Tax Collector of Blount County, Alabama. A dispatch was sent to the Nashville World last March stating that Dixon, while engaged in an attempt to rob his own house, was mistaken for a burglar by his wife, who shot and killed him. The dispatch was sent out by a press association and appeared in all the papers supplied by it and was republished by the Times. The suit is attracting considerable attention, as nearly 250 daily newspapers throughout the country which contained the dispatch the day before it appeared in the Times are interested in the result, as, should damages be recovered in the present case, it is said that every other newspaper which published it will be sued.

HELD AS HOSTAGES.

Unpaid Hungarian Railroad Laborers Hold a Contractor Prisoner.

PITTSBURG, PA., October 12.—The Hungarians employed in the construction of the Cresson, Clearfield County and New York Short Line Railway did not receive their pay on the day it was due last week. They feared they would not get it and attacked the Americans who were superintending the work. All escaped but one of the contractors named Ferguson, who was captured by the Hungarians and held in captivity by them. They swear they will kill him if they don't get their pay by October 20.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

T. V. Powderly Re-elected Grand Master Workman at Hamilton, Ont.

HAMILTON, ONT., October 12.—At the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor held here, the following officers were elected: Grand Master Workman, T. V. Powderly of Scranton, Pa.; Grand Worthy Foreman, Richard Griffiths of Chicago; General Secretary and Treasurer, Fred. Turner of Philadelphia; General Auditor, J. G. Carlile of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Secretary of Insurance, H. G. McGaw of Pittsburg, Pa.

Fatally Kicked.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

CENTRALIA, ILL., October 12.—A young man named Edgar Coy, who lives a few miles west of this place, was hitching up a pair of mules to a harrow last Thursday, when one of them kicked him in the stomach. He made a few rounds of the field and went home. It seems he was hurt internally, for he died last night from the effect of the kick.

CITY NEWS.

The fixtures of the street illumination are being removed from the streets to-day.

The body of a colored male infant was found in a lot yesterday near Fourteenth and Mullanphy streets.

John Williams was arrested last night for stealing a caddy of tobacco from Louis Nienweiler of 513 N. Third street.

A. Rauchenback's residence, 1438 Dodier street, was entered early yesterday morning and a lot of silverware and clothing stolen.

Rudolph Opperman, 16 years of age, living at 1312 Montgomery street, accidentally shot himself in the left hand while examining a pistol Saturday evening.

John Griffin, an insane man, was taken in charge by Sergeant Shore last night on Third and Locust streets. His place of residence could not be learned.

Kate Feldman, who is wanted for stealing $300 from Mr. Brink, a baker on S. Second street, was captured yesterday by Officers Hutton and O'Hearn.

Pat Donlon and Tim McNeil had a quarrel late last night in a saloon on Seventh and Biddle streets, and Donlon cut McNeil in the left cheek, inflicting an ugly and painful wound.

At a recent meeting of the Paragon club resolutions were adopted relative to the death of John N. Help, their recently deceased member. The club will wear mourning for thirty days.

Jacob Schneider, a laborer who lives at 1241 Collins street, tripped in front of 1241 Collins street Saturday evening and fell with such force as to sustain injuries which necessitated his removal to the City Hospital.

A buggy driven by E. B. Matthews, of 4321 Manchester Road, and Ben Saville, of 406 N. Seventh street, collided with a buggy belonging to a man named Monahan, Saturday evening, on Pine street. Mr. Saville fractured his right leg. The buggies were both badly damaged.

About 6 o'clock Saturday evening the electric light attachment to the gas fixtures in Tony Faust's came in contact with the gas and in an instant the ceiling of the dining-room was covered with flames. An alarm was turned on, but the fire had been extinguished when the engines arrived.

About 1 o'clock this morning Private Watchman Tim O'Connel discovered a fire in Rodney D. Wells' store, in Commercial alley, and turned on a still alarm to engine 23. The response was prompt and the fire was extinguished without much damage.

John O'Connor, living at 2015 Biddle street, came to the Dispensary yesterday to have a wound in his right shoulder attended to. He said he had a dispute with an unknown man before daybreak yesterday morning and had received the wound in the scuffle. The knife had penetrated the left lung and the wound is serious and probably fatal.

Patrick Lynch, a Missouri Pacific flagman at the crossing on Fourth and Poplar streets, endeavored to warn a wagon driver of the approach of a train last evening, but the man whipped up his horse and clearing the track just ahead of the train ran into Lynch and knocked him down. Lynch's injuries are serious. The driver's name is unknown.

Private Watchman O'Connell saw a colored man known as Brackey John "holding up" a white man on Vine street last night and captured him. While waiting for the patrol wagon the negro slipped his arms from his coat and made a dash for liberty, leaving the coat on the watchman's hands. O'Connell gave pursuit and fired several shots, but the negro escaped.

Saturday evening about 8 o'clock two policemen who were standing on Broadway and Market streets were informed that a fight was in progress at Martin Henry's saloon, 510 Market. When they arrived at the saloon they found John and Martin Henry pounding a man named William Lee. The Henrys were arrested and Lee sent to the Hospital. His condition is serious.

John M. Johnson, 14 years of age, one of the special delivery messengers at the Post Office, was arrested Saturday evening for stealing a letter containing $5 65, which was given to him to deliver to H. C. Hennery, a stenographer in the Wabash auditor's office. He had signed Mr. Hennery's name himself, and admits his guilt. He was taken before Commissioner Morgan and held in the sum of $1,000, which he furnished, his grandfather going security.

DOWNED BY DENISON.

The Court Reverses the Action of the Council in Removing Him.

Re-Instatement of the Second District Police Justice—Work of the Temple Committee Undone—The Substance of Judge Thayer's Decision To-Day—Powers of the Council Defined.

The Temple removal committee of the Council and the Council itself received a heavy blow to-day in Court. Judge Thayer rendered a decision in the case of George Denison, the deposed Justice of the Second District Police Court, which will have the effect of reinstating him on the bench. The Court orders the motion of the City Counselor to dismiss the Denison proceeding against the City Council to be overruled and directs that the motion of Judge Denison for judgment on the City Council's answer shall be sustained. The Council resolution directing the removal of Judge Denison is to be quashed. The Court, in an elaborate opinion, presents and answers the following questions: Is the power lodged by the City Charter with the City Council to remove Police Justices entirely discretionary with that body so that it may remove of its own volition, without notice of charges and without granting the accused a hearing? If the power of the Council to remove Police Justices is not wholly discretionary, but is confined to removals for reasonable and adequate cause, with all that it implies in the way of notice of charges, opportunity to be heard and trial, does the record of the City Council show that the power in question was lawfully exercised in this instance?

THE FIRST QUESTION

must be answered in the negative. There are several provisions of the charter from which it may be clearly inferred that the charter-makers did not intend to vest the City Council with power to remove the Mayor's appointees, mentioned in Section 2 Article 4, at its mere pleasure. While it is true that Section 8 of Article 4 provides that all officers appointed by the Mayor shall be subject to removal by a majority of the elected members of the Council, yet by no fair rule of construction can it be said that this section enlarges the power of the Council so that it may remove appointed officers at pleasure. In connection with section 5 it means that when the incumbent of an office is removed for cause the removal shall be accomplished by the vote of the majority of elected members, and not by any less number.

In May of the present year a resolution was adopted in the Council reciting that various city institutions had been prostituted for political purposes, and subordinate officers were employed in political intrigues. A committee was appointed to investigate. That committee reported that Judge Denison had neglected his duties as city officer in absenting himself from court the greater part of the day, and that he had engaged in the practice of law. On the 31st of July the report was acted upon, and the recommendation that Judge Denison be removed was sustained by the Council.

JUDGE DENISON,

prior to final action, had filed a written protest and urged that he should be heard. The Council record shows that it gave no notice to Judge Denison of the pendency of charges against him, and no notice as to when or where the Council Committee would hear such charges. Looking at the preamble a person would naturally suppose, says the Court, that the committee was created to investigate matters of an entirely different nature, with a view of formulating specific charges if any of the current reports alluded to proved to be well founded.

If charges were in fact pending before the committee of the nature indicated by the report, Judge Denison should have had some reasonable notice to appear and give his evidence. The Court must hold that the City Council did not exercise its power of removal in a lawful manner if that body is bound to exercise the judicial power of removal according to common law methods. The Court is of the opinion that it cannot be legitimately inferred from the provisions of Section 6, Article 4, that the law-makers intended to deprive appointive officers of the right to notice and a hearing in case charges were preferred against them affecting perhaps their private character no less than their official conduct. The right itself is so important and under our form of government is so carefully guarded in all other forms of judicial procedure that it cannot be denied in the present instance merely on the strength of a doubtful inference.

The Council having acted without having acquired jurisdiction, the resolution declaring Judge Denison's removal from office must be adjudged void and the record of it must be quashed.

Maj. Lee, of Dyer, Lee & Ellis, who represented Judge Denison, stated to a POST-DISPATCH reporter that in all probability Judge White would at once vacate. He presumed, however, that the City Council could appeal the case to the Court of Appeals if the City Counselor advised such a step.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Items of Interest From the City Across the River.

Reports of the depredations of horse thieves throughout the country are becoming daily more numerous. For the past week Chief Halloran has received on an average two notices a day from different parties throughout the county and State, whose stables were broken into and the stock stolen. This morning's mail brought him one from James McCundlish, Sheriff of Cumberland County, containing the information that on Wednesday night last a team of horses, a spring wagon and a set of harness were stolen from the farm stables of H. O. Sherwood, near Greenup. The animals are both of a roan color, one being a mare, the other a horse. Both are sixteen hands high, and a reward of $50 is offered for the capture of the thieves and return of the property. A notification from Sheriff Ropiequet that a black mare 15½ hands high had been stolen from George Klaus, at Centerville, was also received. A reward of $25 is offered for the return of the animal.

A man named Ed Reed was arrested on the bridge last night for being drunk. He was taken before 'Squire Draggon this morning and discharged.

James O'Connell and John Wiley desecrated the Sabbath yesterday by becoming drunk and conducting themselves in a hilarious manner, and were fined $3 and costs each this morning by Squire Keane.

Mayor Joyce has now received a number of letters from the managers and superintendents of the different railroads which come into this city, in regard to the reconstruction of Front street, who seem favorably disposed towards the proposed improvement. At the next meeting of the Council the question will be given lengthy consideration and some definite conclusion in regard to the form improvement will be reached.

Dr. O. R. Winton assembled a number of his friends this afternoon to witness the laying of the corner stone of his new building on Broadway. A tent was pitched on the ground where the building is to be erected and refreshments served.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. will join their St. Louis brethren in a reception which is to be held to-night at Union Depot.

Squire Bunyan is laid up with malaria and will not be able to attend to his duties as Justice of the Peace for a week.

It is the Commercial Department of the Treasury. I have charge of all the imports and have a staff of about forty clerks. The name 'Bureau of Statistics' is misleading. It ought to be called the Commercial Department of the Treasury, since it has to do directly with the commerce of the country."

"How about that story of your luxurious room and fine dressing."

"That was a story of Norman J. Colman's, and it placed me in a very ridiculous light. I think I squared myself with him by the story I got up of his fight with a farmer while he was up in New York State with Heard. There was no truth in either. I am a plain, old-fashioned fellow, earnest and sincere in my ways. I am neither a fool nor a dude, and I don't think the circulation of that story was at all harmless. It made me appear ridiculous and injured me with people I do not know."

Col. Switzler was the editor for forty-three years of the Columbia Statesman, one of the oldest papers in the State.

BELGRADE'S SENSATION.

An Alleged Case of Witchcraft in a Minnesota Swedish Settlement.

ST. PETER, MINN., October 12.—There is considerable excitement in Belgrade, this county, in a settlement of Swedes, over a case of what they believe is witchcraft. A woman has been sick for three years, and accuses her aunt of being a witch, and of causing her sickness. The Swedish Church has held a trial and witnesses solemnly testified to a belief in witches, and stated what they have seen in this particular case. The statement was made by a woman that she was posted in witchcraft, and had seen witches send the craft off through the air, and seen it strike persons who were soon after taken sick. What will be done with the alleged witch has not been determined.

A BLOODY DUEL.

Two Young Men in Clark County Fight With Knives—One Mortally Wounded.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., October 12.—Particulars of a duel with knives, in Clark County, have just been received here. It appears that Charles Wright and Jasper Owens, two young men, got into a quarrel while at work in a cotton field. Each drew a knife, and, advancing toward each other, a terrific fight commenced. Both were cut severely. The fight terminated in Wright plunging his knife to the hilt in the side of his antagonist. He fell on the ground mortally wounded. Wright gave himself up, claiming that he acted in self defense. He is highly connected, being a son of Hon. Alfred Wright, a leading citizen of Clark County.

A Different Discrimination.

Concerning the offer of Fred Wann, agent of the Chicago and Alton, of $500 for every expense bill or voucher showing discrimination against St. Louis and in favor of Chicago on hogs out of Kansas City, Michael McEnnis says:

"I did not say freight between Kansas City and Chicago was 10 cents. I said freight between Chicago and St. Louis, 318 miles, was 10 to 12 cents, mostly 10 cents, whilst the freight between Kansas City and St. Louis, 287 miles, was 20 cents. Rates in bills of lading are very deceiving, as many know to their cost, and few men who receive rebates will acknowledge it and cut off their advantages, hence, Mr. Wann's proposition is a safe one for him, and the Chicago and Alton will not be called on for any cash."

Mr. McEnnis, according to this statement, was misquoted by a morning paper.

A Meeting of Masons.

The greatest feature of the year in the Masonic fraternity, will be the twenty-fifth annual session of the Most Worthy Grand Lodge of Missouri, which will commence in this city at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning at the Masonic Hall, Seventh and Market streets. The session will continue three or four days, and will be attended by nearly 100 delegates. Grand-Master Woods of Kansas City, arrived to-day and also a large number of other officers and delegates. The Laclede will be the headquarters of the Grand Lodge. There are now 27,000 members of the order in the Missouri jurisdiction. Rev. Dr. John D. Vincil, the grand secretary, now closing his tenth year in the office, will be re-elected, having no opposition either in the city or State.

Collector Barnum's Plans.

Mr. Freeman Barnum has received an official notification of his appointment as Collector of Internal Revenue, together with a blank bond, and he is now at work obtaining securities. Mr. Barnum is beginning to learn what it is to have patronage at one's disposal, and the drift of ward politicians and office seekers to the Hotel Barnum is becoming very noticeable. "I will take hold of the office about the 1st of November," said Mr. Barnum, this morning. "The first of the month is the proper time to assume the duties of an office, and I have had a little talk with Mr. Sturgeon to that effect. Mr. Barnum will have his bond filled out by the end of the week.

THE OHIO ELECTION.

Conflicting Estimates of Probable Majorities by Republicans and Democrats.

CINCINNATI, October 12.—The election in Ohio to-morrow is for Governor and other State officers, and for members of Legislature which shall elect a successor to Hon. John Sherman, United States Senator. This gives peculiar interest to the election of members of the Legislature. Estimates that purport to be based upon a polling of the State by the Democratic and Republican committees give widely different results. The Democratic estimate elects Governor Hoadly by from 20,000 to 25,000 plurality. The Republican elects Judge Foraker for Governor by from 12,000 to 15,000 plurality. Estimates on the Legislature by both parties make the result close, though both claim a majority. The element of uncertainty in the election of a Governor is the Prohibition vote. It is generally conceded that its increase will be mainly from Republicans. The vote two years ago amounted to 8,362. The Democratic poll this year estimates it at 30,000. The Prohibitionists themselves claim a still greater vote. It is possible that many who vote for Dr. Leonard on the Prohibition ticket will vote with their former party on the Legislature, so that the vote for Governor will not indicate exactly the complexion of the Legislature. In Cincinnati vigorous efforts have been made by a non-partisan committee to detect and punish frauds in registration. Their efforts reveal startling crime in this direction. They have prepared and will print to-day a list of 1,400 fraudulently registered names, and they say they have no doubt there are 3,000 names that should have appeared on this fraudulent list if closer scrutiny could have been given. They have issued seven warrants for arrest of persons violating this law, but no arrests have yet been made. There is no anticipation of disorder at the polls. Voting places have been greatly increased and crowds about them will be accordingly smaller; besides a new law prohibits persons from congregating within 100 feet of a polling place.

Hon. Wm. H. Carter Sent to the Fulton Asylum—A Dishonest Farmer.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LEXINGTON, MO., October 12.—About two months ago Hon. Wm. H. Carter of Higginsville, this county, returned from the West, where with Major Geo. Gordon and Frank Thornton, he is interested in a cattle ranch. For some time losses have been sustained from various causes and the ranch has been a serious drain upon the gentlemen named, particularly Mr. Carter. At the time of his return he was suffering from an attack of brain fever and his death was daily expected. Finally he grew better and then took a relapse. News came to-day that he has become insane and on Saturday was taken to the asylum at Fulton. Mr. Carter has twice represented LaPlatte County in the Legislature and is one of the most popular gentlemen in the county. His derangement is attributed to his heavy losses in cattle.

Three weeks ago John Cuddy, a German farmer living near Alma, hired a team from the livery stable of W. C. Grau at Corder, and failed to return at the time agreed upon. Nothing was heard from him for several days, when a description of the man and team was sent out. A telegram was received last night from Dodge City, Kan., stating that the man and team were in the hands of the officers there, and Deputy Sheriff Jackson left to-day to bring them back.

ROBBED THE WORKINGMEN.

The Wholesale Peculations of Deputy Postmaster Wells at Renova, Pa.

RENOVA, PA., October 12.—Further developments appear in the shortage at the Post Office here. Recently Inspector Speese of Pittsburg discovered a deficit of $2,000 in the accounts of Decatur Wells, the Postmaster's son. It has now leaked out that young Wells was obliged to make up $2,500 of a previous shortage in May, which was paid over to the Inspector by a brother-in-law. The subsequent discovery of the $2,000 shortage has led to more discoveries. His victims are all foreigners employed, for the most part, in the extensive car shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad. One favorite game that he worked on this class of people was to take the cash for a money order and give a registered letter receipt. There are about 4,000 mechanics employed here, most of whom are young men, and who send money to their parents monthly. Nearly all of them have suffered. When the peculations are fully exposed they will reach over $5,000. The affair has aroused the indignation of everybody in this part of the State, and the prompt removal of Wells is demanded. Inspector Speese is examining the books, and the department at Washington has the matter under advisement.

INDICTING A MONOPOLY.

Serious Charges by a Rival Corporation Against the Standard Oil Company.

BUFFALO, October 12.—The Grand Jury of the Court of Sessions has found indictments for conspiracy against John D. Archbald, an officer of the Standard Oil Company; Henry H. Rogers of New York, who is a partner of Charles Pratt & Co.; Ambrose McGregor of Cleveland; Hiram B. Everest of California, and C. M. Everest of Rochester, who is now supposed to be on board a steamer, returning from Europe. The complainant, the Buffalo Lubricating Oil Company, alleges the defendants conspired to burn and blow up the Buffalo works; that they hired witnesses to commit perjury; that they caused discrimination in freight rates, compelling plaintiffs to pay excessive rates, and that in various ways they slandered the goods and reputations of the plaintiffs. The Buffalo Works claim to have been persecuted by the Standard from the time they were established in 1881. The works blew up and 150 barrels of oil were destroyed. The plaintiffs allege that they have the confession of a man that he caused the explosion at the instigation of men identified with the Standard Oil Company. He is now said to have turned State's evidence, which is the prime cause of these indictments.

perched in the rigging. He was rested and we could not catch him. He would circle about the ship a few times when startled and then alight somewhere else on the ship. There was a little owl, too, that kept the kingfisher company, but he soon disappeared. We intended to keep some of the birds that were caged in the smoking-room, but when the boy entered to clean out in the morning he gathered up the hats, and to his surprise a flock of birds suddenly fluttered about him and flew out of the open window. They were very tame and perched all about the vessel. The officers of the watch said they could hear birds flying against the side lights of the ship and dropping into the sea all night. It is evident that there were thousands of birds flying that night. How to account for the appearance of these birds is a question. There were men on board who have traveled about the world for forty years and never heard of such a phenomenon, much less seen it. There was no wind. For two days before and after the birds appeared you could have pulled a shell in safety on the open sea. Our theory is this: Abacoa, one of the Bahamas, is celebrated for birds. You may always know of its proximity by the birds that fly about the ships. Now, the birds that came on board Monday evening were Bahama birds and they are found all about the island of Abacoa. We concluded that there was a local whirlwind or tornado that took up all the land-birds of a certain district, and that afterward, by an upper current of air, they were swept out to sea. We get the swell of the storm hundreds of miles away, but on this occasion there was no swell, so the tempest must have been local. It is a physical impossibility for many of the birds we found to fly 260 miles, the distance of the nearest land. Any one who has hunted rail birds knows that that bird could not fly half the distance. The rail is a marsh bird. If he is hunted he takes to his legs and quickly hides himself. His wings are ill-fitted for flights and he seldom rises. Now, two of these shore-loving rails ran against us 260 miles from land. It seems plain that some force collected the birds and DROVE THEM TO SEA.

"We kept some of them in the boats till off the coast and then liberated them. There were two rails, a male and female. The male escaped a day out of New York, and the female was the bird that made off for Staten Island when we were in the Narrows. I do not believe that any of the small birds that left us in mid-ocean got to land. They had a night's rest, it is true, but they were desperately tired for all that, and had no wind to help them back. Our passage was one of the calmest we ever had. We want some scientific man to explain this phenomenon."

A FAIR JAIL BREAKER.

Handsome Kate Judd Escapes From the State Jail at Newport, R. I.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEWPORT, R. I., October 12.—Kate Judd escaped from the State Jail at 4 p. m. yesterday and is now being sought for from one end of the State to the other. Some two and a half years ago she was sentenced by Chief Justice Durfee to be imprisoned for twenty-five years for the crime of arson. She is well known to the detectives of New York and Boston. Early in 1883 Mr. John G. Weaver, the proprietor of the Ocean House, hired Kate Judd as a domestic at his private residence. She was recommended to him by a well-known Boston agency. She had been in his service five or six weeks only when his house was burned, and

HE LOST ABOUT $25,000.

The Judd girl was suspected, and she was arrested and confessed. She is a handsome, intelligent girl, with piercing black eyes. About this time a young man named George Rounds was captured running away, after committing a burglary at one of the cottages. He, too, was committed to Jail to await trial. In a few days the community was startled by a report that Kate Judd and Rounds had escaped from jail. Kate had succeeded by removing stones in effecting an exit through a two-foot wall, and then let Rounds out. They were discovered a few days afterward in a barn near the Ocean House and brought to trial, Kate getting twenty-five years. She once before tried to escape from the State Prison, and extra precautions were taken to prevent it. Despite all these she escaped yesterday by scaling the walls. She had her prison clothing on. Prior to her coming here she set fire to a dwelling somewhere in Massachusetts.

A REMARKABLE ROBBERY.

Yung Lady Forcibly Seized at a Railroad Depot and Robbed.

Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BOSTON, MASS., October 12.—The Journal plishes to-day the details of a remarkable robbery. The victim was a young woman who d been employed as a nurse in the Boston City spital. She had secured a place in a New York spital, and on Thursday evening went to the old lony Railway station to take the 6 o'clock express for that city. She arrived at the station at 0 p , purchased her ticket, taking the money er purse, which contained $30. th got checks for her baggage, and started the rain house. While she was scrutinizing di is near the main entrance to make sure of t ain, she was suddenly tipped backward, a was placed over her mouth, and two men her at once to a closed carriage in waiting. uggles were in vain, and she could not . The driver had evidently received his or he drove rapidly away. bridge. She found that the car would pass through Watertown where she had an uncle, and not having a cent of money she was compelled to walk. Following the tracks, she finally arrived at her uncle's home at 8:40 p. m. She related to her friends the adventure. Her clothing was torn and filled with the odor of ether. Her gold watch, breast pin and purse were missing. On Friday morning her watch and shawl pin were found on the spot where she was thrown from the carriage, they probably having fallen from her clothing. Her uncle gave her money to go to New York and she started again on Friday evening. The police were informed and Inspector Hanscom has given the matter into the hands of a detective, but there is little hope of discovering the fellows, for the woman did not have an opportunity to see their faces.

CHASED BY A MADMAN.

A Resident of Germantown Runs Amuck in Philadelphia Frightening Many People.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., October 12.—Joseph Sanson is one of the best known men in this town. He is a popular, affable old gentleman, who speaks nineteen different languages, and is the official interpreter for the courts of this country. Mr. Sanson lives on Seventh street above Parrish street. Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, arrayed in his Sunday clothes, he started to attend a religious meeting further down town. He walked slowly down Parrish street with his hand behind him and his head bent down in meditation until Marshall street was reached. There Mr. Sanson became suddenly aware that he was about to run into somebody. Looking up quickly, with his fluent tongue ready to offer a profuse apology in any of the nineteen different languages, he was terror-stricken and the crown of his high silk hat rose on the back of his head to an angle of forty-five degrees, for, towering above him was a ferocious looking man, trembling apparently with rage, while the veins of his almost purple face stood out like whip cords and his dangerous black eyes protruded far from their sockets. Mr. Sanson sprang adroitly to one side, but he was as quickly again confronted by the stranger, who indulged in a loud demoniacal laugh and displayed the glittering blade of a huge knife in his unsteady right hand. Mr. Sanson dashed across the street like the wind, and went head first through the half open door of a milkshop. Two purely feminine shrieks announced to the startled neighborhood that he got there, and the milkshop door slammed right in the face of the madman, who fell upon it with knife upraised to strike the terrified linguist. Mr. Sanson and his two new acquaintances did some fine work in holding the door to.

Seeing he was baffled in this direction the madman withdrew from the siege and ran up the alley adjoining the property, and made a slash who was enjoying his Sunday morning pipe at the back yard gate. The gentleman at the gate did not wait to argue the point with him. He simply jumped over three successive fences, without looking back, and disappeared. Then the maniac, seemingly ravenous for a victim, dived down the alley, in front of which a large crowd had gathered. Men, women and children scattered in all directions to give him room. He took the lead and they closed in behind. Waving his dirk frantically and yelling at the top of his voice, he led them a merry chase to Eighth street, for a square, where he was finally caught from behind by a big Eighth District policeman, who overpowered, disarmed and took him to the lock-up. When Mr. Sanson at length came out of the milkshop he was sufficiently interested in the case to look up his assailant's history. He learned that the man was John C. Arnold, and that he lived in Germantown. In a comfortable residence there Mrs. Arnold was found. She said that for the past three years her husband had been acting very strangely. For some time he has lived apart from his family in one room of the house, where he did his own washing and cooking. A few months ago he inherited quite a fortune from a broker who died in California and has been drawing money now and then from the estate. Arnold's first demonstration of violence was on Saturday, when he appeared before his wife and six children with a large sabre and coolly announced that he was going to behead them. Changing his mind suddenly, he left them terrified and made his appearance before Mr. Sanson. When searched at the police station three handkerchiefs, $120 in bills and a vest pocket full of gold coin were found on Arnold. Means will be taken to have him put in an asylum.

AT A SON OF IRELAND,

IT WAS RED CORN.

How An Old-Time Gambler Failed to Work in on a Faro Game.

Special Correspondence of the POST-DISPATCH.

VICKSBURG, MISS., October 7.—Cal Osborne, a grizzly gambler, who in the good old days "befo' the wah" won and lost many a dollar on the big double deckers on the lower Mississippi, sat on a bale of cotton at the wharf one day last week. There were large rents in the back of his russet coat, and his trousers were infirm with age.

"Times are not what they were," the old sport moaned, as he tossed a piece of red faro check into the river and stroked his chin with a velvety hand. "But I saw some pretty hard days in the sixties, though, and my present condition sort o' carries me back to a particularly memorable day in 1863. It was of a Wednesday in June of that year, if I remember aright, that I boarded a steamer at Memphis. I had just enough money to pay my passage to Natchez, but this fact did not worry me any. There were plenty of suckers in those days, and as I was pretty cute in my line of business the idea of not being able to rake in a hundred or two on a trip never entered my head. We had gone down the river perhaps five miles when I spotted a young, smooth looking fellow dealing faro out of hand. There were five Indianians in the game, and as I watched the bets I concluded that the lay-out was just too soft for anything; and, as I said before, I didn't have a copper, and, what made it all the more discouraging, I had pawned all my jewelry in St. Louis several weeks before. I saw that the players were using and I had also seen, while waiting for the boat to start at Memphis, that she carried a good sized cargo of corn in the ear. Now here was my opportunity. I moved away from the game, feeling as though there were but a few short steps between myself and opulence. Sneaking down on the boiler deck I found an open hatchway, and, throwing this big right hand into the boat's hold, fished up an ear of corn. I jammed the cob into my coat pocket and crept up stairs like a thief, shelling the corn as I went. It was not more than a minute more before I was looking over the shoulders of the players. The game was getting interesting, and the men were piling up their corn on the cards at a great rate. Now here was my time.

"I scooped up a handful of kernels in my pockets and slapped the seeds on the queen. The dealer looked at the kernels a second, and, without raising his head, said in a tone of voice so frosty that it chilled me to the bone: "Stranger, I don't remember of issuing any red checks." "I took in the situation at a glance, and, with a stage cough, slunk away to the bow of the boat and cursed my luck. When that boat reached Natchez, I sat on the wharf two whole days watching them unload that corn, and I will eat this old hat if there was another ear of red corn in the whole cargo. Talk about hard luck, friend, that was a little more agonizing than the kind I am playing in now."

EXTERMINATE THE REDSKIN.

The Reward for Indian Scalps in Arizona Increased From $250 to $500.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

DEMING, N. M., October 12.—It has been recently telegraphed that the pioneer settlers in the border counties of Arizona have brought to light an old law in several counties offering a reward of $250 each for Indian scalps. Under this law, which is nothing more than an order made by the County Commissioners, the cowboys in Cochise, Pila and Yarapai Counties are organizing in armed bodies for the purpose of going on a real old-fashioned Indian hunt, and they propose to bring back the scalps and obtain the rewards. Word now comes from Tombstone, the county seat of Cochise County, that the reward in that county has been increased to $500 for a buck Indian's scalp. The authorities of Pila and Yarapai Counties have taken steps to increase the reward to $500, and it is said Yuma, Apache and Maricopa Counties will follow suit in this reward system. While it may seem savage and brutal to the Northern and Eastern sentimentalist, it is looked upon in this section as the only means possible of ridding Arizona of

THE MURDEROUS APACHES.

The settlers of New Mexico and Arizona are aroused on this question, and purpose to act henceforth independent of military authorities. From time immemorial all border counties have offered rewards for bear and wolf scalps, and other animals that destroyed the pioneer's stock, or molested his family. Why, therefore, asks the Arizona settler, should not the authorities place a reward upon the head of the terrible Apache, who murders the white man's family, or steals his stock like the wolves? "Extermination" is the battle-cry now, and the coming winter will witness bloody work in this section. Public sentiment in this part of New Mexico is strongly in favor of the immediate removal of General Crook, who, it is declared, has always been overrated as an Indian fighter. It is the general belief here among white scouts that General Crook has been duped by his Indian scouts, and that the latter have always had secret understandings with Geronimo, and have repeatedly sent him word of the movements of the troops.

A BIG LAND GRAB.

The British Government's Determination to Annex Upper Burmah.

A Sensational and Unconfirmed Announcement—Minister Tricoupis' Speech Causing Alarm—Germany's Plan for the Settlement of the Bulgarian Question—War Demonstrations in Greece—Lord Randolph Churchill's Speech at Birmingham—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, October 12.—The sensational announcement that the Government is determined on the annexation of Upper Burmah is creating much discussion, but must await confirmation for some time. All the Tory organs and speakers have been given hints. Two articles in the National Review suggested it on Saturday night. Archibald Colquhoun, who has been the Times' special correspondent all over the East, writing to the Times, directly urged absolute annexation, saying that the English would be welcomed, that the native army is contemptible, that King Theebaw is intriguing with the French along the Irrawaddy Valley, which is the only route for a railway from India to China through Siam, and that Burmah is a very rich country. The Burmese Ambassador to Paris denies indignantly any intrigue with the French, and asserts that the Burmese are both able and determined to resist annexation by anybody. The ultra Radicals will protest strongly. Nobody of authority has yet mentioned the subject, but Theebaw's abominations have long excited disgust, and he is probably near the end of his tether.

TRICOUPIS' SPEECH.

The speech of the Greek Minister Tricoupis on Saturday is causing alarm. He said that if Greece had followed in 1821 advice similar to that which the Powers are pressing upon her now there would be no Hellenic Kingdom to-day. The inference is obvious. Tricoupis will have an interview with Lord Salisbury this afternoon, so his next utterance will be more important.

The Roumelian Revolution.

GERMANY'S PLAN OF SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, October 12.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent say: Germany, with the approval of Russia, Austria and England, has proposed as a plan for the settlement of the Bulgarian question, that the following principles be observed: "First, that the Greek and Servian demands be rejected; second, that Turkey be advised to complete her military preparations so as to be ready to interfere in the event of Greece and Servia moving to enforce their demands, and lastly, that the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia under Prince Alexander, the latter avowing the sovereignty of the Sultan, be recognized."

WAR DEMONSTRATIONS IN GREECE.

ATHENS, October 12.—Demonstrations in favor of war are being held throughout Greece. The army is being rapidly mobilized. The King has called out the reserves to the number of 40,000 men.

SERVIA IN EARNEST.

BELGRADE, October 12.—The war fever runs high in Servia, and active preparations are going on to enforce Servia's demand for an extension of territory. English, French and Austrian firms have been tendered contracts by the Government to supply complete outfits for 25,000 troops, and all the contracts have been allotted; also one for 35,000 horses. The Lander bank war loan has been raised to $5,000,000.

GLADSTONE FAVORS THE BULGARIAN UNION.

BRUSSELS, October 12.—Mr. Gladstone has written to M. Emile Louis Victor Laveleye, the well-known writer on political economy, as follows: "I favor the Bulgarian union, but trust its territory will not exceed its present limit, because I fear disastrous competition between the great Powers themselves, and also the Hellenic and Slavonic races, for an extension of territory. I express myself on the question with reserve, because my mind is perplexed by the many difficulties surrounding it. I see that the Bulgarian union, excellent in itself, may produce immeasurable evils."

England.

CHURCHILL'S BIRMINGHAM SPEECH.

LONDON, October 12.—Lord Randolph Churchill, in his address to the electors of Birmingham, said the Tories would strive, as far as political economy would admit, to multiply the number of freeholders and occupiers of land throughout the United Kingdom; to utilize the powers of Parliament in the direction of thrifty spending of the people's money, and to reform Parliamentary procedure and regulate the hours of meetings of Parliament, so as to remedy night sittings. In a word the Tories would govern the Empire in the light of common sense.

AN INGENIOUS APPEAL.

The Times says: "Lord Randolph Churchill's address is an ingenious appeal, and strikes with unerring instinct at the weak point of the Liberal cause, namely: past failures and dissensions in the party."

THE COTTON OPERATIVES' STRIKE.

LIVERPOOL, October 12.—The strike of cotton operatives at Oldham is still unsettled. The men have held a meeting and refused to accept the terms offered by the masters.

THE NEWMARKET OCTOBER MEETING.

The second October meeting at Newmarket began to-day. The race for the Clearwell stakes, for two-year-olds, was won by the Duke of Hamilton's filly, Miss Jummie; Lord Bradford's colt, Martinet, was second, and Mr. Manton's colt, Loved One, was third. There were eight starters. The betting was 6 to 1 against Miss Jummie; 2 to 1 against Martinet, and 5 to 1 against Loved One.

MINISTER PHELPS' LUNCH.

Minister Phelps lunched to-day with Rear Admiral Franklin on board the United States man-of-War Pensacola at Southampton. The usual ceremony for such occasions was observed. Mr. Phelps returned to London this afternoon.

CARDINAL MANNING ON CARDINAL M'CLOSKEY.

Cardinal Manning, in an interview to-day, said: "I knew Cardinal McCloskey well. We stayed together while at Rome, during the Plenary Council. I have written a letter to Archbishop Corrigan, expressing great regret at the death of the American Cardinal. I have always venerated Cardinal McCloskey's grave and gentle character, and I am certain that the Americans estimated the character of the deceased prelate likewise." Cardinal Manning was affable and courteous to the correspondent.

The Carolines.

CONSIDERED A COMPLETE FAILURE.

MADRID, October 12.—Newspapers here consider the six weeks' negotiations between Spain and Germany, regarding the Carolines question, a complete failure.

The Cholera.

THE SCOURGE ON A VESSEL.

TOULON, October 12.—Thirty cases of cholera and nine deaths from the disease occurred on board of the Couronne, a gunnery training vessel, lying off this port.

France.

M. BRISSON'S SPEECH.

PARIS, October 12.—M. Brisson, the Premier, in answering a congratulatory address on his re-election to a seat in the Chamber of Deputies, said the Conservative gains cannot shake the confidence of the Republicans, who will have 150 majority in the new Chamber. He declared that the Monarchists tried the overthrow of the Republic and would cause a revolution in attempting to secure that end. Neither the Republicans nor the Monarchists desire war abroad, but the Republic alone can assure peace at home.

The Dominion.

THE SMALL-POX.

MONTREAL, October 12—Official returns at the Health Office to-day show there were 47 deaths in this city from small-pox on Saturday, 5 in St. Cunegonde, 1 in St. Henri, 4 in Cote St. Louis, 9 in St. Jean Baptiste village and 2 in St. Gabriel. Yesterday there were 47 deaths in this city, 7 in St. Cunegonde, 7 in St. Henri, 7 in Cote St. Louis and 1 in St. Jean Baptiste.

Ireland.

ARRESTED FOR CONSPIRACY.

CORK, October 12.—Patrick Cullinane has been arrested at Dunmanway and committed for trial on a charge of conspiracy.

THE CATTLEMEN CHARTERING STEAMERS.

The cattlemen who threatened to stop shipping their stock by the Cork Steamship Company's vessels unless the company refused to carry boycotted goods are negotiating with a view of chartering four steamers for their own use.

THE CORK NATIONALIST CONVENTION.

The Nationalist Convention for nominating candidates for Parliament from County Cork assembled to-day. Parnell, Mr. Dillon and Mr. John O'Connor and 500 delegates were present. An enthusiastic reception was given the party leaders. Owing to the strong difference of opinion prevailing among the delegates respecting the claims of the various gentlemen mentioned for the honors, Mr. Parnell selected candidates for six of the divisions, leaving the convention to select the seventh.

ON THE ANXIOUS SEAT.

St. Louis Aspirants For Federal Offices Afraid of Dark Horses.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 12.—Appointment Clerk Higgins has all the papers in relation to the Surveyorship of St. Louis classified, and has placed the same before Secretary Manning for his action. The applicants are backed by a cart load of letters of recommendation and indorsement petitions, etc. The Congressional supporters of the rival candidates have poured volumes into the ear of the Secretary. The whole matter, however, is in about the same condition it was this time last week. It may be disposed of to-morrow or may not be touched for a month. There have been no additional applicants to those whose names were given in last Monday's issue of the POST-DISPATCH except the speculations of the different candidates, which are not based upon anything reliable.

The St. Louis Offices.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 12.—One batch of Missouri politicians has gone home and another is coming here. There seems to be a feeling of perfect confidence on the part of the friends of each of the aspirants for the different federal offices to be filled in the Eastern District of Missouri, that their man will be successful in the end. So far, the race all around looks like an even one. The most astute Missourians now in this city fear dark horses more than they do known applicants. Up to this time there is nothing to indicate who will be appointed to the Postmastership, United States Attorneyship, Marshalship and Surveyorship.

POSTMASTERS APPOINTED.

F. E. Wilson, David City, Neb., vice A. B. Coon, commission expired; John T. Wrenkle, Plattsburg, Mo., vice F. D. Phillip, commission expired; David M. Bossert, Jefferson, Iowa, vice J. M. Rhoades, resigned; T. M. Shelton, Windsor, Mo., vice W. T. Glover resigned; H. F. Tallman, Lanark, Ill., vice Henry Foulds, deceased; John Snoddy, Big Spring, Texas, office became presidential; John Ryan, Anaconda, M. T., office became presidential; J. F. Ryan, Sandy Lake, Pa., office became presidential.

Not Entitled to Command.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 12.—The Secretary of War has decided that the corps of engineers is a staff corps, and its officers are not entitled to command.

No Danger of Cholera Invasion.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 12.—Surgeon-General Hamilton said to-day that the danger of a cholera invasion of this country had passed for the present.

THE BRANCH PEN SITE.

Trying to Abolish the Penitentiary Printing Office—Jay Gould and Party.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

JEFFERSON CITY, October 12.—Inspectors Walker and Boone left this morning for Louisiana, to select a site for the Branch Penitentiary. Treasurer Seibert is in Chicago. He will not meet with the other inspectors at Louisiana. J. T. Lingle, editor of the Henry County Democrat, is here to consult with the Warden and Inspectors as to the advisability of abrogating the contract made with the Journal Printing Company by Warden Willis, and approved by the old Board of Prison Inspectors, by which a printing company was established in the Penitentiary and operated by prison labor. Mr. Lingle comes as a member of a committee of the Press Association charged with this duty. Unfortunately, however, all the members of the Board of Inspectors are absent, which will necessitate another visit. Jay Gould and party stopped over in the city a few hours yesterday.

DOOMED TO DESTRUCTION.

A Great Conflagration in Progress at North Manchester, Ind.—Fires Elsewhere.

CHICAGO, October 12.—A special from Wabash Ind., received early this morning, says: A large fire is in progress at North Manchester, twelve miles north of here. Five blocks of buildings are burned, and the flames are spreading rapidly. The loss cannot be less than $50,000. The Fire Department of this city have gone to the assistance of the town.

Saw-Mill Burned.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

PINE BLUFF, ARK., October 12.—The Tune saw-mill on the Caldwell plantation, belonging to Campbell & Bryan, was burned on Saturday night; no insurance; loss $2,200.

A HIGHWAYMAN LYNCHED.

Capture of a Murderer—A Missing Merchant Found Dead—Texas Topics.

MOUNT PLEASANT, October 12.—Ben Little, a colored man who was charged with robbing John Gaitry, was released on bond. On Saturday night he was taken out and lynched by a crowd of masked men.

ATLANTA, October 12.—Joe Howell, who broke into the jail at Homer, La., in 1878, and murdered John Simmonds, a prisoner, was captured in this place yesterday.

HOUSTON, October 12.—The body of S. J. Levy, the dry goods merchant, was found in the bayou at Harrisburg.

CORSICANA, October 12.—W. S. Cook was fatally injured yesterday at a cotton gin.

A LITERARY THEFT.

A Number of Ralph Waldo Emerson's Letters to Thomas Carlyle Stolen.

BOSTON, October 12.—The family of Ralph Waldo Emerson say that a number of his letters to Carlyle appear to have been stolen. They wish to caution all persons against buying or selling any papers purporting to be the originals of letters from Emerson to Carlyle, and against publishing such letters and to ask that any one who may hear of the existence of any such letters will do them the favor to inform Edward W. Emerson, Concord, Mass., where they may be found. The manuscripts were all given by Carlyle to a member of Emerson's family and the right of publication belong to the writer's family by law.

RECENT ROBBERIES.

The Following Robberies Were Reported by the Police This Morning.

From W. J. Kerton, Eighteenth street, near Franklin avenue, while in a hack opposite the Olympic Theater, a light brown overcoat.

From W. C. Martin, 1127 Chestnut street, a frock coat containg some railroad tickets.

From Thomas Carr, 2647 Papin street, $30 and from Dominick Brown of the same place $40.

From A. Rauschenbach's residence, 1433 Dodier street, six silver teaspoons, two plated salt cellars, one plated cruet stand and a hat, of a total value of $30.

A Big Bass.

On Saturday, a bass weighing seven and one-fourth pounds was caught at Creve Cœur Lake, the head of which is being prepared for exhibition by E. C. Meacham as the largest bass caught in the State this year. Yesterday there were over fifty fishermen at the lake, and good luck is reported by all of them. James Kearney of 2526 Benton nipped sixty-one croppie and bass; Cas Heisal of 2248 Julia street was satisfied with catching thirty-five croppie; Justice Manning of the Fourth Ward with a small party caught seventy-three very fine croppie. Fishermen are complaining because the late train from the lake has been taken off, and sportsmen must either stay out all night or leave their fun at 8:15 in the afternoon.

Anthony Daly's Murderer.

MORRISTOWN, PA., October 12.—John M. Wilson, the self-confessed murderer of Anthony Daly, who was brought here yesterday from Chicago, waived a hearing to-day before a justice of the peace and was committed for trial.

TEMPLE AND DENISON.

The Usefulness of An Investigation Committee Impaired.

What Councilmen and City Officers Think of the Decision of Judge Thayer—The Case to Be Appealed to the Supreme Court—What Judge Denison Has to Say.

Judge Thayer's decision, which will be found elsewhere in this paper, that Mr. George W. Denison, who was removed from the bench of the Second District Police Court by the City Council, after an investigation by the Council Committee of which Mr. Joseph Temple is chairman, is entitled to his seat, created something of a sensation in local political circles this morning. The decision is a very important one, as, if it is held to be good, it will result in not only putting a quietus on the Temple Committee, but will undo all the work done by that body. Judge Denison was reported to the Mayor by the Secretary of the Council as having been removed on the 3d of August last. The Mayor immediately appointed Mr. James McCaffrey to temporarily fill his seat. On the 17th of August Mr. Francis appointed and commissioned Mr. Edward White as Denison's successor.

THE "CAUSE"

for which Denison was removed was alleged to be that he did not attend to the duties of his office during the hours that he was required to by the charter, and that he took cases, and practiced law as a lawyer outside of his office. It appeared to be taken as settled that Mr. Denison was forever disposed of after his removal, and the appointment of his successor, and that the Temple Investigating Committee and the Council would proceed with their deadly work. But this belief was somewhat shaken when Mr. Denison appeared in the Circuit Court and filed a suit against the thirteen members of the Council to quash the resolutions of the Council and reinstate him in office. This caused considerable discussion, and opinions varied as to the probable result. Now that Judge Denison has been sustained the matter will go to the Supreme Court. It is not likely that the Temple Committee will prove very useful to the hungry Democrats about town before the decision is made. An effort to obtain local opinions on the decision this morning resulted as follows:

JUDGE DENISON INTERVIEWED.

A reporter of the POST-DISPATCH met Judge Geo. W. Denison this morning, and, after congratulating him on his success in securing a vindication at the hands of the Circuit Court, asked him if he had anything to say in regard to the matter. "Well, no," said the Judge, "the fact of the matter is I have not yet been able to see the decision. I was told by the clerk this morning that a favorable decision has been rendered but was unable to see the papers, as they had been taken out. I understand that Judge Thayer's decision quashes the order of removal, and I never had the slightest doubt that such a decision would be rendered. I knew that that was the law in the case, and I may say I feel somewhat vindicated. I would prefer, however, as long as I have not seen the decision itself, to say nothing about the matter except that I am glad the law has sustained me in my position."

COUNCILMAN ED. DEVOY

was sailing up Chestnut street when a reporter stopped him and broke the news of Judge Thayer's decision to him. Mr. Devoy asked: "When was the decision rendered?"

"This morning. What do you think about it?"

"Well, I guess Judge Thayer is right. I don't dispute his word. You remember that when the matter came up in the Council, I moved that it be postponed until the City Counselor would give his opinion, because I thought that the removal of a city officer was a very serious matter. I voted to remove him, not because he failed to observe charter hours of office, but because he practised law outside and received fees in addition to his salary."

COUNCILMAN JOE TEMPLE

was found on 'Change, and when the reporter stated the case to him he said: "That is the first I have heard of it."

"What do you think of Judge Thayer's decision?"

"I don't care a d——n for Thayer's decision. He don't know A. B. C. about the charter."

"Well, Judge Denison is to be reinstated. What are you going to do about it?"

"He is to be reinstated, is he? I'll bet you he isn't. The Supreme Court will pass on the case first."

"Will you carry it to the Supreme Court?"

"The city officers will, if they know their duty; and if they do not I will, if it takes the last dollar I have."

"Will Judge Denison be reinstated under the decision?"

"I don't know. It depends on what action the Mayor takes."

"Have you anything to say about the matter?"

"I have this to say: The charter is very plain in defining the powers of the Council, and Judge Thayer evidently doesn't know anything about the laws. Denison was removed for non-observance of the charter requirements. He did not keep his office hours and practised law, receiving fees outside of his salary. If that was not enough to remove him I would like to know what the charter is for. I propose to fight this thing myself if the city does not."

CITY COUNSELOR BELL

was informed of the decision of Judge Thayer in the Denison case, and said: "Well, I suppose the city will want the opinion of the Supreme Court on that."

"The case will be appealed then?"

"I suppose it will. The parties in authority who direct the course of litigation will probably advise me to take it to the Supreme Court."

"And pending the decision of the Supreme Court Judge White will remain on the bench?"

"Exactly."

"What do you think of the Council's right to remove Denison?"

"I believe that under the language of the charter they had a right to do so."

"And the Temple committee was a legal body?"

"It was regularly appointed, was recognized by the Council, and had power to act."

MR. F. W. MOTT,

the Assessor and Collector of Water Rates, expressed himself on the decision as follows: "I don't see that any other decision could be given by a good judge. My idea is that the City Council can only remove a man for cause."

"But they removed Denison for cause."

"Yes, but they had no trial. He was removed on a lot of ex-parte testimony without having a chance to defend himself. When the Legislature passed the scheme and charter, it was with the belief that every officer who would be appointed by the Mayor would have a four years' contract with the city which could be broken only by his inefficiency, or by malfeasance. The officer could only be removed for cause, and I have never known that he would be subjected to the humiliation of a trial by a Council committee just because he belonged to a different party than the one in power. Yet this is what came to pass. I tell you, politics should not control these matters."

MAYOR FRANCIS

expressed much surprise when informed of the decision. "I have nothing to say concerning the matter," he said, "I have not seen the decision yet and do not know what Judge Thayer's grounds are. And besides, I am not competent to pass upon a point of law of that magnitude. I think, however, the Council has the right to remove an officer. Whether the cause in this case was sufficient or not, or whether the removal was effected legally is a matter that the gentlemen of the law will have to determine. I suppose the Council and the committee knew what they were doing when they removed him."

WHAT JUDGE WHITE THINKS.

Mr. Edward White, who was commissioned Judge of the Second District, vice Judge Denison, removed, appeared rather indifferent to the decision of Judge Thayer. Said he to a reporter: "Of course this is a matter entirely between the City Council and Judge Denison. The action was brought by Judge Denison in order to invalidate the action of the City Council, and if the decision is as I understand it, of course this was what the Judge did. I have not yet seen the decision, but if I had I would not be prepared at this time to state what course I would pursue in the future. Of course everything now depends upon what the city will do. If the case is appealed, then we must wait for a decision of the Supreme Court. If not, I will wait and see what action Judge Denison will take to regain the seat. I am not prepared to say whether it will be necessary for Judge Denison to take any action to this end if the case is not appealed. Of course he will have a legal claim for back salary if the matter rests as it now stands."

BELLEVILLE.

Sentenced to the Penitentiary—A School Fight—Notes.

The Circuit Court was in session this morning. George Miller, who was found guilty of burglarizing Mr. Walker's residence at Freeburg, was brought into court and sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary. Arguments were then begun in the injunction case of Mortimore D. Willard against the Board of Education of East St. Louis. The application requests that the School Board be restrained from renting the basements of churches for school purposes. The ground of the petition is that it is unlawful to teach any sectarian belief in public schools. The bill alleges that the Catholic doctrines are taught in the East St. Louis public schools, and, therefore, an injunction is prayed for, the object of which is to compel the Board of Education to erect new schools entirely disconnected with any church.

An attachment for contempt of court was issued by Judge Watts against James W. Kirk, editor of the East St. Louis Gazette, for failing to appear after having been summoned by the Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury returned two indictments this morning against Peter Savage, one for burglary and the other for assault with intent to kill. He will be tried without delay.

Mr. Charles Weber, who has been visiting Germany, returned yesterday.

The case of the East St. Louis Gas and Coke Company against the city of East St. Louis, which is a suit instituted some years ago for money which the plaintiffs allege is due them by the said city, came up this afternoon in the Circuit Court.

The Nail Feeders' Union meets to-morrow evening at the City Park.

The managers of the Fair to be held on the 13th, 14th and 15th are pushing things, and the first attempt of the new association promises to be a successful one.

Cycle Chat.

Hendee will attempt to lower the bicycle records at the Fair Grounds track this week.

Mr. Richard Garvey, formerly of this city, and associated with the early history of cycling in the West, is visiting in the city. He is engaged in business in New York.

Saturday at Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass., F. F. Ives, of Meriden, Conn., made a world's hundred-mile track record of 6 h. 25 min. 18 sec. W. A. Rhodes started also, but fell out in the thirty-sixth mile.

The Wheelmen's parade Saturday night called out twenty-five riders. It was not intended as a formal parade, and the call for the run was only twelve hours old. Despite this brief notice and the unusual wetting down the streets had received, enough cyclists took part to make the ride through the illuminated streets a pretty and attractive one. Hal Greenwood acted as grand marshal, and George Oeters as leader.

Yesterday a company of twenty-seven Wheelmen including Mr. Burley Ayres, of Chicago, went out to Manchester to see George M. Hendee attempt to reach the top of the famous Son-of-a-gun hill, which, is so difficult to climb that the Ramblers' Bicycle Club have offered a gold medal to any one accomplishing the feat. Already this year three Ramblers have done it, and Hendee was determined to win the medal before returning East. The hill was in good condition and on the first trial Hendee reached the top. Under the spur of such vigorous rivalry Arthur Young and Lindell Gordon, captain of the Ramblers, followed suit, and three gold medals were the trophies of the day's run.

Railway News.

The Texas Traffic Association members are meeting at the Southern Hotel to-day trying to arrange rates between Texas points and the Atlantic seaboard via New Orleans and Galveston. It is the equalization of rates with the cost of insurance by water added that is sought after. There are in attendance Messrs. Seaman and Moritton of the Cromwell Steamship Line; Charles Mallory and D. N. Sawyer of the Mallory Steamship Line; J. G. Schriver and E. Hawley of the Morgan Line; W. H. Newman of the Texas and Pacific road; Oscar Murray of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe; Dan Ripley of the Houston and Texas Central; J. Waldo, Commissioner of the Association. The meeting will probably remain in session until Wednesday evening.

William Kennan, the caterer of the Pullman Hotel cars in Texas for many years, has made a change of base, and is now in charge of the Wabash dining cars running between St. Louis and Decatur.

City Hall Notes.

Recorder of Voters Hoblitzelle to-day informed the Mayor officially of the result of the recent charter amendments election. The Mayor will now issue his proclamation declaring that at the election on October 6 the first two of the amendments were carried and the remainder lost.

Mayor Francis was at the Four Courts during the greater part of the day.

The Board of Public Improvements will meet to-morrow and as all the contractors for new city work have their bonds in shape, will recommend to the Mayor the necessity of calling a special session. A proclamation calling the Municipal Assembly together may be looked for to-morrow or the following day. The Assembly will be given only a short time to meet as action on contracts and bonds is imperative.

A Wrecked Crew.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 12.—The United States revenue cutter, Corwin, is just coming in. She has about one hundred of the crew of the wrecked Arctic whalers aboard.

CARONDELET JOTTINGS.

The converting mill of the Vulcan Iron Works did not go into operation to-day, as was expected, owing chiefly to the Illinois Nail Company not starting. The mill may start some time during the week, but on what day is not decided as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sickles celebrated their silver wedding Saturday evening last. They received many valuable presents from friends and relatives.

J. W. Morgan, a well-known citizen of Carondelet, died at his residence, Saturday, after a lingering illness. The funeral will take place to-morrow, from his late residence, at 3 p. m. The Rev. Dr Jos. De Forrest will conduct the services.

Mr. Charles Waggoner, a guest at the Southern Hotel, while visiting friends in Carondelet Saturday night, lost his horse and buggy. He thought they were stolen and returned to the city by rail. Yesterday the horse and buggy were found near the point from which they started, the buggy lying in a ditch. It is thought the horse wandered off at his own will.

SPORTING NOTES.

At Sportsman's Park, yesterday, the Cincinnatis had a picnic with the Browns, defeating them by a score of 18 to 8.

To-day the series between the Champion Browns and the New York League Club begun at Sportsman's Park, and the admirers of the former have an excellent opportunity to see what the Browns' chances would have been for first or second place in the League. Both clubs present their strongest teams—Caruthers and Bushong officiating for St. Louis, and Welch and Ewing for New York.

At Denver the long talked of mill between Jack Burke and John C. Clow took place last Saturday night. Four rounds were fought with hard gloves, but neither man received much punishment and the fight was declared a draw.

THE EXPOSITION.

Citizens Will Now Have Ample Opportunity to Visit the Show.

Merchants Will Make This Night Their Own—A Fine Musical Programme—The "Mikado" and "Old Hundred"—Gossip of the Naves.

The rush of Fair Week is over and the crush of strangers has subsided. Mr. and Mrs. Hayseed, with their beautiful, but gorgeous daughter, and, perhaps, too, with the ornate but guileless young swain, who is buying said daughter her peppermint candy and popcorn this season, have returned to their home near Pumpkinville, and by this time are reciting their wonderful experiences in the big city of St. Louis to their astonished neighbors, telling them all about the magnificent pageants of the past week and endeavoring in their simple but expressive way to convey an idea of the marvelous splendors of the Exposition. About 100,000 members of the Hayseed family took in the Exposition between last Monday morning and last Saturday night, so the advertisement which the show will get from the enthusiastic grangers will be widespread in its character and far-reaching in its effects. Previous to last week the Ex had won favor with nearly 300,000 people, and when the last ticket was taken in Saturday night the total attendance from the opening footed up about 877,000. With all these friends at its back there should be no reason to doubt the success of the remaining two weeks, and the management feel pretty certain that before the closing hour is reached on the night of October 27, they will have a record of a half-million visitors to point proudly to as the triumph of 1885.

During the time that remains citizens will be expected to do their best to keep the Exposition booming, and special musical programmes and novel features of other kinds will be offered to continue the interest which has grown in this grand show. The Merchants' Exchange will, at the request of the committee having charge of such matters, take the initiatory in this direction by this their own night at the Ex. All members of the Exchange will be in attendance and will be distinguished by a white ribbon worn in the lapel of the coat. The merchants cherish the same desire held by all citizens, to make the Exposition's success as splendid as possible, and they will turn out in full force to-night, and take all their friends with them. A big crowd and a fine time are expected.

The band programme for to-night will be particularly interesting. It will embrace the "Mikado" gems, which have been asked for frequently, and will conclude with "Old Hundred," the verse of which, printed in the programme, the audience are requested to sing in chorus. The following is the programme which Mr. Gilmore has arranged:

PART I—AT 7:30.
1. Triumphal March and Chorus from the Oratorio of Naaman, With Sheathed Swords..........Costa
2. Gavotte—L'Ingenue..........Arditti
3. Fantasie on an old German air..........Ein Vogel
Showing how it would have been written by Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Strauss, Verdi, Gounod and Wagner.

PART II—AT 8:30.
4. Funeral March of Siegfried from the Gotterdammerung..........Wagner
5. Quartet for French horns—The Soldier's Love..........Otto
Messrs. Weston, Mueller, Zilm and Eiler.
6. Selections from the "Mikado"..........Sullivan

PART III—AT 9:30.
7. March from the Black Hussar..........Millocker
8. Saxophone solo—Swiss Air Varie..........Savari
Mr. E. A. Lefebre.
9. Quintet for Trombones—Pilgrim's Chorus from Lombardi..........Verdi
Performed by Messrs. Gericke, Wilson, Krueger, Phasey and Raffayolo (with full band accompaniment.)
10. Charivari—In Parlor and Street..........Sousa
Introducing twenty-eight of the most popular songs, dances and favorite melodies of many lands.

Old Hundred—

Citizens' week.

Twelve more days.

The Mickydoo to-night.

This is Merchants' night.

The architect of the Exposition Building, Mr. J. B. Legg, makes a pretty exhibit of plans for residences and cottages.

Gilmore, next year, again.

Attendance so far, 877,000!

The Ex, closes on October 24.

White ribbons will wave this eve.

Join in and help sing "Old Hundred."

The veiled exhibitors are still plotting.

A morning concert will be given on Wednesday.

Gilmore should shoot the man who took that photo hanging in the corridor.

Baker & Son's popcorn is like a houseworld word—it is in everybody's mouth. It is the best popcorn in the world.

The Columbus Buggy Company has the finest vehicles at the lowest prices St. Louisans have ever heard of.

What does Mickydoo? He goes to Strauss's. To Strauss's? Yes, to Strauss's. Yum-Yum and Peep-Bo do the same.

The Bollman Brothers are selling large numbers of pianos, and their exhibit in the grand transept is the most popular of all the musical exhibits in the building.

The artistic furniture displayed by the Guernsey Furniture Company never lacks admirers. It is a perfect revelation of taste in its line and cannot be surpassed for beauty or richness.

F. W. Guerin makes a grand display of photographs, whose excellence is acknowledged by all artists who visit the Exposition. In Mr. Guerin's display are pictures of well-known people, which go to show the character of his patrons.

Diamonds are always attractive, whether they glisten in a king's crown or blaze upon a handsome woman's breast. The diamonds in the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Company's exhibit are marvels of splendor, worthy of any monarch that ever lived or any maiden fair that ever blest mankind with her love.

The Excelsior Manufacturing Company are proud of the premiums which their "Charter Oak" stove has won, and proudly display it at the Exposition as the best cook stove in the world. The blue ribbon taken at the Fair last week is used in adding to the adornment of their beautiful rotary pagoda. The "Boaz" soft coal base-burners and the "Capitol," the original square base-burner, are in the display.

The Simmons Hardware Company deserves credit for the enterprise it has displayed in giving the Exposition a half dozen of its very finest exhibits. All these are excellent, and just in the line of which people want to see at an Exposition, and deserves sincere and liberal praise. But there is one exhibit in particular that demands special commendation for its size, beauty and completeness, and that exhibit consists of quadruple-plated silver ware from the famous Rodgers' factories. It is in the northeast space of the main floor and should be inspected by everybody.

To the Consumptive.—Wilbor's Compound of Cod-Liver Oil and Lime, without possessing the very nauseating flavor of the article as heretofore used, is endowed by the Phosphate of Lime with a healing property which renders the Oil doubly efficacious. Remarkable testimonials of its efficacy can be shown. Sold by A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston, and all druggists.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Mr. J. H. Farish Wins the Garland Medal—A Close Contest.

The lawn-tennis tournament for the Garland challenge medal was concluded at the Knickerbocker Grounds on Saturday. The contest at the finish was between J. H. Farish, Louis Bulkley, Cliff Allen and Frank Obear. Obear won a game from Allen and was in turn beaten by Farish. Bulkley and Farish then played the concluding set, the latter winning. Mr. Farish holds the medal, subject to challenge, but, should he win it three times, it becomes his property. The medal is of very handsome workmanship and design. It is a gold shield, bordered with laurel, and, bearing a diamond star in its center, is suspended from two crossed raquets, which in turn depend from a heavy scroll of gold bearing in raised letters the name "Garland." The contest for the final possession of the medal is likely to be a sharp one, as there are several players who press Mr. Farish very closely for the championship.

Only $1 50 for an elegantly engraved copperplate and 100 visiting cards, the finest work in the world, executed by the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Co., Fourth and Locust.

That Wedding at Blankville.

Our country cousin fresh from the green fields and flowing streams has been among us by a large and overwhelming majority for the past week, ending with Saturday night, October 10. He came to enjoy himself, and he accomplished that feat with remarkable ease and grace. He stood in undisguised admiration before "Love and Folly," and evinced an enthusiastic admiration for Gilmore's Band and the "Famous" display. He was frequently heard to remark to his Sunday-go-to meeting young lady: "That big glass show-case would be plenty large for us to go to housekeeping in," and then they would adjourn to the pop-corn counter or lemonade stand and indulge in riotous living and wild dissipation. He wandered about the streets and gloated over the show-windows filled with handsome goods, displayed in attractive and unique shapes. He was frequently seen in front of "Famous," and flitted from one mammoth window to another like the bee goes from flower to flower: and, mark you, the interesting young lady, with a complexion of cream and roses (the genuine article) was always with him. She gazed longingly at the cloaks and millinery windows, while he held his breath in admiration over the artistic display of clothing, shoes and furnishing goods, each contained in a different window. They finally wandered inside, and from the "supplies" they laid in we hazard the prediction that a wedding will take place shortly in Blankville. His enthusiasm reached the boiling point, however, when five mysterious but gallant knights, in glittering armor and riding abreast, preceded the different grand processions of the week, distributing a printed invitation to visit "Famous" and feast his eyes on the model business house of the West. He responded, a great many of him, and for a week took possession of "Famous," and from the convenient position of the latch-string it is safe to say he will call again the first time he reaches town. He found that "Famous" was evidently an institution of the people, devoted to the noble task of clothing, shoeing, hatting and furnishing man and womankind at prices that made his eyes widen, and in a satisfactory manner warming to his heart. We are glad to meet him; he is a tip-top good fellow, and when that wedding takes place at Blankville we'd like to have added to his visiting list the name of

FALL OVERCOATS FOR MEN AND BOYS.

In the production of our Top Coats we have certainly reached the pinnacle of style and elegance. We show all the new colors, cut in the most approved shapes. Knowing that the Light Overcoat is worn or carried about a great many months in the year, we have seen to it that the canvas used to shape these garments is of a kind that when the coat is knocked about it will not show the usual mussing. But, above all, our Overcoats--even the very lowest-priced ones--fit. Our Overcoat stock is the finest in the land; and, mark you, the coat that fits better than Humphrey's is yet to be born.
